HATCHET SUSPECT HUNTED

Beaten Gal Race Champ Dies

A woman driver, attacked by a hatchet-wielding male motorist near Torrance, died Friday afternoon at Harbor General Hospital.

The victim, Karlina Lee Robinson—an attractive 21-year-old Baldwin Hills woman who has twice been California stock car racing champion—was attacked in an argument after a minor traffic mishap just before midnight Thursday.

Harbor Division Detective Alan Evans said police are looking for Ralph Phillip Rodriguez, 27, of 2142 Del Amo Blvd., Torrance. They recovered his damaged car in the Los Angeles garage of his father, Paul.

A passenger in Miss Robinson's car, Joan Faith Reed, 30, of 1609 W. 209th St., Harbor City, told police they were driving west on Carson Street from Normandie Avenue when the suspect crowded their car and the vehicles sideswiped.

Both cars pulled to the curb in front of 1433 W. Carson.

The man, described as about 5 feet 8 inches tall, Caucasian, with dark hair and dark clothing, stepped out of his car, got a hatchet from the trunk and smashed out all the windows in Miss Robinson's car, Miss Reed said.

When Miss Robinson got out of her car, the man hit her repeatedly on the head, police said.

A motorcyclist, who swung around because the situation "looked funny," gave the victim's fleeing friend a one-mile ride to the Ferget It Club, 19606 S. Normandie Ave., which the two women had just left.

Officers said Miss Robinson suffered major nerve and brain damage. She died at 5:45 p.m.

Convention 'Rigged,' Says Foe

Combined News Service

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, labeled an "ultraconservative," virtually conceded Friday night that she had lost in her fight to win the presidency of the 500,000-member National Federation of Republican Women.

Mrs. Schlafly, 42, of Alton, Ill., has been embroiled in a bitter contest with Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, 63, of Long Beach, Calif. for the top post.

Those eligible among the 3,400 delegates here will vote today for officers.

Mrs. Schlafly told reporters that "the business of the convention is over" and there was no longer a forum in which her backers could fight against what she has called a "rigged convention."

* * * *

MRS. Schlafly, charged Friday night that "unfair rulings" by convention officials could cost her the election.

Mrs. Schlafly made the charge as the credentials committee disqualified 94 delegates from voting in today's balloting for the top post.

"Most, if not all, were mine," Mrs. Schlafly said late Friday night. "It shows how desperate my opponents are to go through these maneuvers against me."

Mrs. Schlafly charged that convention officials had taken a "high-handed" position in refusing to allow delegates to vote on the report of the credentials committee.

"I don't know how we can challenge these unfair rulings," she said.

Prior to the start of the two-day convention, whose theme was "Women United for '68," Mrs. Schlafly's forces had been expected to mount a fierce floor battle against Mrs. O'Donnell, the nominating committee's pick, who is considered a "moderate conservative."

* * * *

DESPITE Mrs. Schlafly's pessimistic declaration, her key aide, Mrs. Lucille Boston of North Hollywood, Calif., insisted the preelection fight still was not over and promised further maneuvering.

Mrs. Ann Bowler, Long Beach, Calif., Republican national committee woman, nominated Mrs. Schlafly.

* * * *

She hailed Mrs. Schlafly as attractive, articulate, intelligent and one who has won the affection, esteem and confidence of millions of American women.

It was hard to tell from the delegate applause meters which candidate might be the favorite as Mrs. O'Donnell, a business woman and pilot, and Mrs. Schlafly were introduced and their praises sung by their nominators and backers.

In the row over credentials, Schlafly supporters filed a challenge involving more than 1,000 delegates of the entire New York and Pennsylvania delegations and portions of Michigan, Missouri and Wisconsin.

Kuchel Is Target at UROC Parley

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

State Chairman Joe Crosby told a preconvention press conference here Friday that his United Republicans of California are "about as conservative as they come," and unloaded a political sampler to make his point:

1. He critized GOP Senate Whip Thomas H. Kuchel's voting record and said Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay more closely meet the tests of UROC principles and positions.

2. He stoutly defended Gov. Ronald Reagan against Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty's attacks on Reagan budget cutting, i.e. "a meat ax approach." Crosby said the charge was false and sounds "like another in the mayor's long line of cheap publicity stunts."

3. Crosby took exception to a suggestion that UROC was trying to be more moderate than the California Republican Assembly, which convened here five weeks ago and applauded a speaker's statement imputing "a vote of treason" to Kuchel for his stand on the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty.

"I don't think this organization is any more moderate than CRA," said Crosby, "We're about as conservative as they come." He took strong exception however to the treason charge against Kuchel.

4. Crosby said he per-

Medi-Cal Phase-Out Canceled

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Plans by Gov. Reagan's administration to begin an immediate phase-out of the state's medical assistance program were canceled Friday as Reagan's aides announced the governor will sign a bill allowing the program to continue.

Emergency legislation to allow payments to continue, approved Thursday by both houses, was ordered into print for the governor's signature. But Reagan flew to Los Angeles Friday before the bill was ready for his signature and aides stood by to fly the document to him.

Telegrams ordering certain Medi-Cal payments stopped were canceled.

The assistance program, expected to cost $900 million next fiscal year, offers indigent Californians quality medical care susbsidized by the state. It appeared to be headed for a temporary death starting Friday until the Senate and Assembly resolved their differences on emergency legislation needed to keep payments going.

Reagan a Failure ---Brown

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown charged Friday night that his successor, Gov. Ronald Reagan, has surrounded himself with "men of little vision — men whose concern for slogans and dollar signs have blinded them to concern for people."

In a speech delivered at a Democratic Party dinner, the former governor dismissed the new Republican administration as a "tragic" failure.

"Empty slogans and a pleasing television personality are no substitute for action," Brown said. "It is becoming increasingly clear that the simple answers that were promised in the campaign just don't get the job done."

The speech was Brown's first in the capital since he left office Jan. 1.

Brown criticized Reagan's emphasis on economy and cost cutting.

* * * *

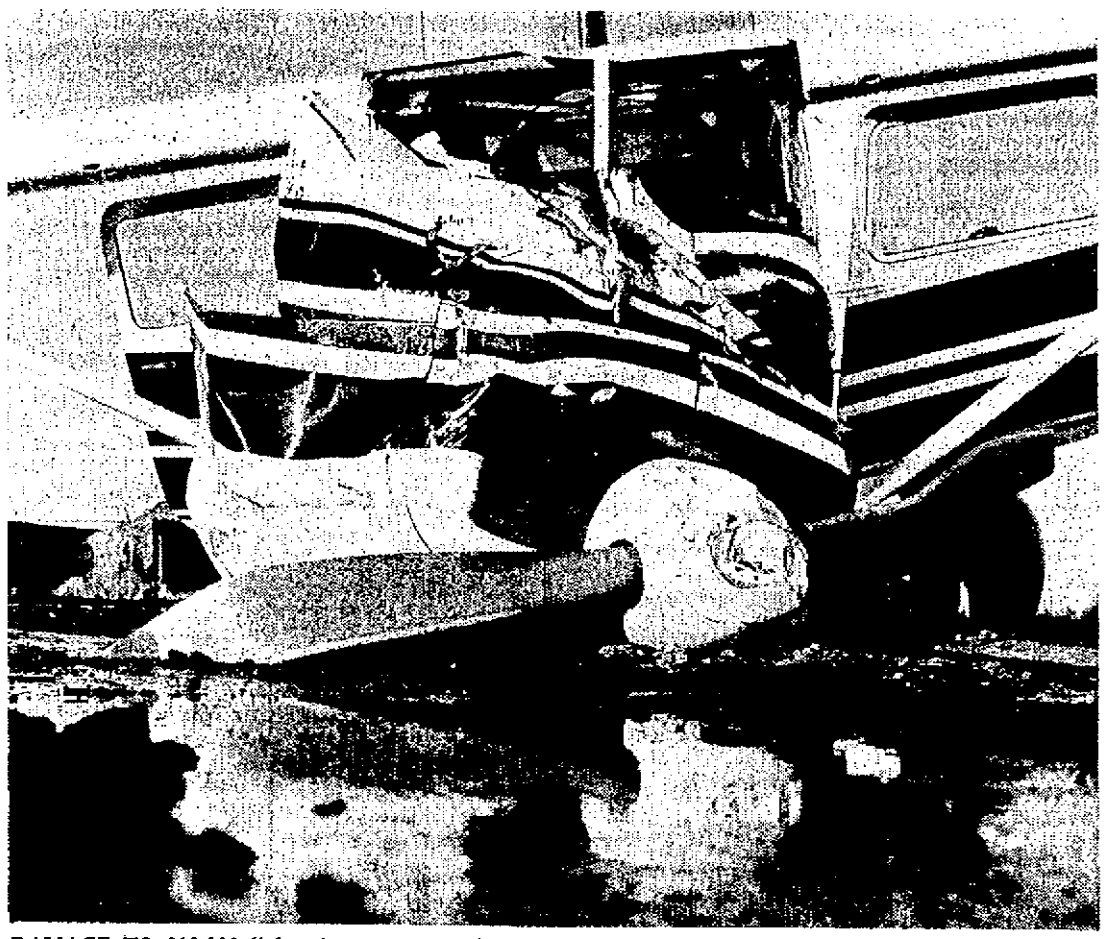

THE budget of the state of California is not just a collection of figures to be cut, trimmed and squeezed," Brown said.

"It records not only how much we spend. It records how much we care — about the education of our children, about the quality of our environment, about the rehabilitation of the mentally or physically less fortunate, about the quality and equality of opportunity afforded our fellow man," he said.

Brown said the Reagan administration has failed "to come to grips with the real and growing problems of our state.

"Its solutions to the problems of crime is to stiffen sentences and throw away the key," Brown said. "Not once has it addressed itself to the roots of crime — poverty and discrimination and disadvantage."

Key bills in Reagan's crime package — stiffening the penalties for robbery, burglary and rape in which the victim is injured — were passed this week by the legislature.

DAMAGE TO $13,000 light plane was complete, but pilot and his four passengers escaped serious injury when craft crashed shortly after takeoff from Long Beach Airport.

ONE MINUTE AFTER TAKEOFF

4 Survive L.B. Plane Crash

By WALT MURRAY

Four men escaped death Friday when their single-engine plane crashed in a city water treatment yard one minute after takeoff from Long Beach Municipal Airport.

The pilot and two passengers were treated for minor injuries at Community Hospital after the 6:02 p.m. crash near Spring Street and Redondo Ave.

The Cessna 250 Skywagon plopped down amidst Water Department outbuildings, fences and small tanks in a cloud of dust. Airport officials did not know the cause of the crash.

Aboard the plane were pilot Glenn H. Nordskog, 45, a sales manager, of Whittier, who received head injuries; Richard B. Hubbard, 50, a businessman, of Glendale, who received minor facial injuries; Lealand Hall, 49, Hughes Aircraft Co. employe, of Culver City, who received a broken rib, and Chester Peterson, 50, a mechanical engineer, of Los Angles, uninjured.

The four-passenger craft was rented from Air Oasis Co., 4150 Donald Douglas Drive, for a flight to Ontario.

Dr. Dale Hauck, 49, of Pasadena, said he was waiting on the runaway to take off behind Nordskog's craft.

"He was up about 300 feet when his right wing dropped," Hauck said. "He sideslipped down fast and crashed in a cloud of dust."

THE UNINJURED passenger, Peterson, said the plane was in the air less than a minute before it went down 1,500 feet south of the end of the runway. The craft crossed Spring Street, dropped low over a parking lot, hit the ground and bounced 25 feet. It came to rest—with its engine compartment crumpled—25 feet from a row of small water tanks.

Hill 881: Total Victory

HILL 881 NORTH, Vietnam (AP) — Reduced in battle from 220 to 131 men, a U.S. Marine company rested in total victory Friday night on the crest of Hill 881 North.

One of the hardest-hit units in a 12-day drive that cleared North Vietnamese regulars from three key peaks at a cost of nearly 1,000 Americans killed or wounded, the Leathernecks made up Company E, 2nd Battalion, 3rd Marines.

"If anybody comes up here tonight he's going to get killed," said 1st Lt. Jack Adinolfi, 23, of Greenville, N.Y.

Adinolfi was in command because his captain was wounded in battle on another slope Wednesday.

These and other Marines, plus swooping jets and artillery barrages, were officially credited with killing 570 men from a new North Vietnamese division — the 325th — and probably wiping out 610 others in the seesaw battle for the hill.

The Americans blunted a massive attempt to overrun Khe Sanh, a Marine forward base and airstrip seven miles from the Laotian border and 12 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

Hill 881 North gets its number, as do other peaks on military maps, from its height in meters. It rises 2,890 feet — more than a half mile — above sea level. All around E Company, the once verdant hills were strewn with shattered timber, blasted by the bombs and artillery and blackened by the napalm.

New Arguments For Doomed Man

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI)—The execution of Daniel A. Roberts scheduled for Tuesday was called off Friday by a federal judge who agreed to hear new arguments about the condemned man's murder trial.

Roberts, a 43-year-old Negro truck driver, smiled and told the San Quentin warden, "That's real fine," when he got the news that meant he'd live at least a few weeks longer. Judge Stanley Weigel set May 24 for a hearing on the appeal by Roberts' attorney, Mrs. Nancy Rossi. He said that "further judicial consideration" should be given the condemned man.

Mrs. Rossi submitted the writ of habeas corpus to the federal court less than 24 hours after Gov. Ronald Reagan had turned down a bid for executive clemency for Roberts. Roberts was condemned to the gas chamber on his conviction for the slaying of his landlady in San Francisco.

Judge Weigel granted the stay of execution to study the contention by Mrs. Rossi that perjured testimony was given by the convict's common-law wife. The judge said evidence may have been "improperly admitted."

Ky Puts Out Call for More Troops

BIEN HOA, South Vietnam (UPI) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said Friday he needs more allied troops, "either from the United States, Korea or other countries," to fight the Vietnamese Communists.

Ky's statement followed by two days President Johnson's announcement that it would be at least several weeks before he reaches a decision on further U.S. troop commitments to South Vietnam.

The United States currently has 440,000 troops here.

"President Johnson said it Wednesday," Ky declared. "Today and tomorrow will be different. I think we need more troops, either from the United States, Korea or other countries . . . to respond to the Communist pressure."

The South Vietnamese government leader was asked how many more allied troops would be needed here.

"Frankly, it is very difficult to say the exact number," he replied. "A few months ago, I mentioned that it depended entirely on how big were the number of new units coming from the north. If they send to the south 10 to 15 divisions, then we need more troops."

Hill 881 Secured; B52s Bomb North

Combined News Services

SAIGON — U.S. B52 bombers hammered North Vietnamese infiltration routes in three separate raids today along heavily fortified mountains and valleys stretching out from the bloody battleground of Hill 881. The bombers dumped tons of explosives in support of U.S. Marines who secured the Hill 881 fortress Friday after 12 days of fierce fighting in which nearly 1,200 Communists were believed slain. U.S. jets flying out of Thailand blasted the Yen Vien railroad yard 6 miles northeast of Hanoi with 3,000 pound blockbusters. The F105 Thunderchiefs also hit the Ha Dong army barracks four miles southwest of the capital.

The Marines, after 12 days of grim fighting, charged into control at the top of the third and last hill overlooking a Leathemeck bastion at Khe Sanh, but Gen. William C. Westmoreland warned the battle may not be over. The Marines broke into cheers in mid-afternoon when they dashed the final few yards to the summit of bloodstained Hill 881 North. The conquest climaxed some of the fiercest fighting of the war. It took a toll of at least 570 soldiers of the North Vietnamese 325th division by actual body count, and another 598 were listed by the Americans as probably killed. But the Marines, too, paid a price — 160 killed and 383 wounded — in the struggle for control of Hill 881 North and two sister peaks.

Bunker Sees Vietnam Gains

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — President Johnson received a first report Friday from his new ambassador to Vietnam, a lengthy document describing the election situation as encouraging and the spirit of dedication as heartening. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker noted also a reduction in prices, a lessening of congestion in the port of Saigon, and a decrease in casualties and kidnapings of Vietnamese civilians. Bunker took over his post April 25. The report was No. 1 in a weekly series, in the pattern of his predecessor, Henry Cabot Lodge.

LBJ Prolongs War—Fulbright

MANHATTAN, Kan. — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Friday "it is not dissent but the administration's escalation that is prolonging the war in Vietnam and costing the lives of fine young Americans." Fulbright said the administration has resorted to pretending that criticism of its war policy is in reality an attack on America's fighting men in Vietnam. Fulbright told a Kansas State University convocation, "a citizen has a clear obligation to speak out when he feels strongly that his government is embarked upon a disastrous course."

Louisville Marchers Deny Plan to Stop

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Open housing leaders vowed Friday night to go through with plans to disrupt the Kentucky Derby after helmeted police blocked an attempted protest march near Churchill Downs. Following the aborted march, the Rev. A. D. Williams King read a terse statement denying rumors that Derby day demonstrations would be canceled. "That's not true," King said. "We will be active tomorrow . . . centered on Churchill Downs." An anonymous telephone threat Friday morning resulted in three bands withdrawing from derby ceremonies. A band director said he was told he may be a "target" of violence at the racing classic.

Carmichael Prosecution Demanded

WASHINGTON — Assistant Atty. Gen. Fred Vinson told angry members of the House Armed Services Committee Friday that none of Negro leader Stokely Carmichael's antidraft statements — no matter how "outrageous" — had violated the law. He said the Justice Department had not prosecuted Carmichael or anyone else for such statements because they all fell under the protection of the 1st Amendment to the Constitution. "Let's forget the First Amendment," boomed Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La. "At least the effort should be made. It would show the American people that the Justice Department and Congress were trying to clean up this rat-infested area." Hebert said the Constitution should reflect the feelings of the people and that people today — stirred by the war in Vietnam — were demanding action against those who delivered such pronouncements.

Chrysler Recalls 4,000 Cars

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp. has reported two recall campaigns on certain 1967 Imperials, Plymouths, Dodges and Chryslers. The conditions causing the recall of about 2,400 Imperials covered bolts in the right front hub fastening the disc brake, two auto pilot linkage nuts and a cotter pin on the automatic speed control unit, possible interference between the starter cable and the steering shaft coupling heat shield and parking brake problems. Notices were sent out on a possible 1,600 Plymouth, Dodge and Chrysler models equipped with 11-inch brakes.

Dodd Dinner Called Off

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — A Connecticut political ally of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd put aside Friday plans to honor the senator with a testimonial dinner—the kind of event that figured in a recommendation to censure Dodd by the Senate Ethics Committee. New Haven Democratic Chairman Arthur T. Barbieri announced he was bowing to Dodd's "insistence" that he drop his plans. Barbieri had announced the testimonial Tuesday—six days after the censure recommendation—and said he would go through with it even though Dodd had asked him not to the same day. In Washington, Dodd said he is pleased Barbieri has called off the proposed dinner.

New N.Y. Daily Considered

NEW YORK — Some of the country's leading publishers indicated Friday that they saw no hope for the establishment of a new evening newspaper in New York City as long as the present economic pressures continue. However, two New York newspaper publishers said they are examining the situation but had reached no decision. Questioned after the closing Friday of the World Journal Tribune, Arthur Ochs Sulzberger, president of the New York Times, said "We are going to take a look. It would be foolish of us not to consider whether the afternoon newspaper field offers us a business opportunity and an opportunity for public service." The World Journal Tribune, the nation's third largest evening paper, folded 236 days after it began publication. Management blamed the "restrictions and mandates" of labor unions. President Matt Meyer disclosed that the newspaper has been losing $700,000 a month. He said New York Daily News International Typographical Union settlement last week provided a 21 per cent wage hike over three years and would cost the World Journal Tribune $10.5 million.

Reservist Callup Confirmed

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department confirmed Friday it would call about 31,000 delinquent reservists to active duty between August and December. The callup, the first of the Vietnam war, will affect reservists who are not fulfilling their weekend drill obligations. The Pentagon estimated the callup would involve about 25,000 Army, 4,000 Air Force, 2,000 Marine and 100 Navy reservists.

Carolina Abortion Law OKd

RALEIGH, N.C. — Passage of a "model" abortion law, similar to the one passed in Colorado last month, was virtually assured Friday when the North Carolina House gave it final approval. All that is now needed is for the Senate to concur with six technical amendments. In North Carolina the governor neither signs nor has any veto power over legislative measures.

Storms Wander in Plains States

DENVER — A delinquent spring rattled roofs with thunderstorms in the Southern plains, spread snow across the central plains and froze the northern plains with near zero cold Friday. A tornado damaged buildings 100 miles west of Oklahoma City, and a tornado watch was in effect through early evening in parts of Oklahoma and Texas. Severe thunderstorms were forecast in the same areas as well as in New Mexico. Lander, Wyo., collected 3 inches of snow and North Platte, Neb., reported an inch. Bryce Canyon, Utah, had 2 inches. Northwest of Oklahoma City ¾ inch hail was reported. Abilene, Tex., had an inch of rain and inches of hail. Rain was falling from Texas to Florida and from the mid-Mississippi valley to New England. Tallahassee, Fla., had 1.7 inches of rain, easing a drought.

Gov. Kirk Abandons Private Police

Combined News Services

Gov. Claude R. Kirk Jr. of Florida has agreed to abolish his controversial private police force, acknowledging privately that it may not have been a "good idea" to establish it.

In a special message to the legislature, Kirk, a freshman Republican politician, asked for a $1.5 million appropriation to set up a special state police force to investigate organized crime in Florida. This special police force would be under the governor's control, and would replace the present private police force, the governor said.

"I'm not actually giving up Wackenhut," the governor said. "What I have asked for was the transfer of 32 or 36 agents, however many there are on the state payroll."

The Wackenhut Co., the third largest private detective agency in the U.S., has been furnishing the governor with 36 special agents, several of whom have been assigned to investigate public officials. Kirk proposed in January that the private police force would be paid from public donations. However, the public did not respond to appeals for money, and Wackenhut has been bearing the cost of the investigations.

CRITICAL

Mrs. Adele H. Leopold, 41, won a divorce from Beverly Hills Mayor Fredric Leopold Friday on grounds he was highly critical of her and her mother, Dorothy Schiff, owner of the New York Post. Mrs. Leopold, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the 59th district assembly seat in the last election, won custody of their two children, Theresa, 16, and Fredric, 11.

'High Fashion? No!'

OUT TO DRY

Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace remains one of the world's "10 worst dressed women" in the eyes of Hollywood fashion designer Richard Blackwell — and he's not going to apologize for saying so.

Blackwell said Friday he plans to return as a guest on ABC television's Joey Bishop Show next week to give a more "definitive reason" for placing Gov. Wallace on the list. Blackwell said Thursday night on Bishop's show that the lady governor was the seventh, worst dressed women in the world, adding "she looks like Monday morning clothes hung out to dry." Host Bishop took offense and demanded Blackwell retract his words.

BOOKED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Police discounted the story of the wife of a prominent dentist that an intruder chased him through their home firing shots until he was killed and booked the attractive mother of three on a charge of murder Friday night.

Mrs. Mary Julia Parkin, 40, was placed in the county jail without bond in connection with the slaying before dawn Thursday of Dr. Wilford Parkin. Police said they had found what they believed to be the murder weapon — a 38-caliber pistol.

Police Lt. Robert Stringer said after two days of questioning officers could find "no evidence to support her claim an intruder shot her husband." Mrs. Parkin, who was said to be four-months pregnant with another child, had told a story of how the intruder killed her husband and knocked her unconscious. Mrs. Parkin was described by neighbors as "straight-laced, dead set against drinking and smoking." They said there had been tension within the family for some time.

PRETENDERS

The daughter of the pretender to the Spanish throne married the engineer son of a Spanish marquis Friday in a glittering ceremony in Lisbon attended by the leaders of Europe's deposed royal houses.

The bride was Infante Pilar de Bourbon y Bourbon, 31, daughter of Don Juan, count of Barcelona, pretender to the Spanish throne. The groom was Luiz Gomez Acebo y Duque de Estrada, 32, who works with a Madrid cement company.

It was the royal wedding of the year in Portugal, which deposed its own royal house and became a republic in 1910. Topping the list of royal-blooded guests were ex-King Umberto of Italy, ex-Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain, her son Don Juan, the Spanish pretender, and the Duke of Braganca, pretender to the throne of Portugal. The only ruling personages among the throng were Prince Rainier and American-born Princess Grace of Monaco.

RESTRICTED

Two American sailors were restricted to their ship Friday for an unspecified period after admitting they tried to smuggle a Scottish girl on board. They appeared before Capt. George F. Ellis, commander of the U.S.S. Simon Lake, a depot ship which supplies Polaris submarines at Scotland's Holy Loch. The sailors were not identified. Neither was the girl, who did not appear at the hearings. A U.S. Navy spokesman said the sailors' restriction probably would last 30 days.

LYNDA STORM

A reporter and a photographer of Colombia's most influential newspaper brought suit Friday against "unknown members" of the escort assigned to Lynda Bird Johnson, elder daughter of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The suit, filed by reporter Amado Blanco and photographer Gustavo Vasquez of the El Tiempo staff, alleges Miss Johnson's escorts inflicted "serious personal injuries" on them and "destroyed private property belonging to them."

A storm boiled up in Colombia over a clash between the newsmen and the men who accompanied Miss Johnson on her journalistic assignment to Barranquilla. El Tiempo itself expressed anger over the incident at Barranquilla airport Wednesday night. The newspaper extended its indignation to Texas and to the administration of President Johnson.

El Tiempo, usually pro-U.S., represents the ruling Liberal party of President Carlos Lleras Restrepo. The two men claimed they were "hit and kicked by members of the escort and one of them pulled out a gun and aimed it at us." Meanwhile, informed sources in Bogota said the United States embassy has offered to apologize.

BURN BOOK

Mrs. Gail Potter, a writer and former teacher, testified Friday in San Francisco that the "Love Book" of Lenore Kandel ought to be burned.

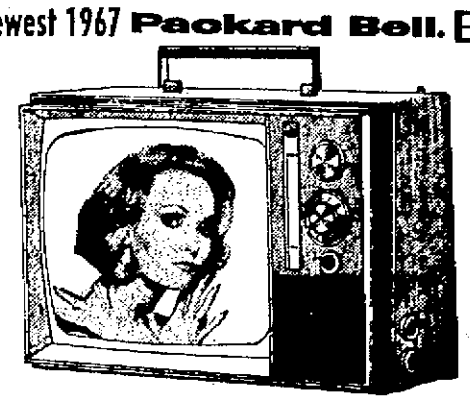

"I would enjoy seeing it burned . . . but even if it were burned, the fumes would pollute the air," Mrs. Potter said at the trial of Jay Thelin and Allen Cohen, of the Psychedelic Shop. They are being tried for selling obsecenity. Miss Kandel's work, the material in the case, is free verse and makes use of four-letter words.

NO POWS

The self-styled "international war crimes tribunal" Friday decided against bringing captured American servicemen to Stockholm from North Vietnam to testify on alleged U.S. atrocities in Vietnam.

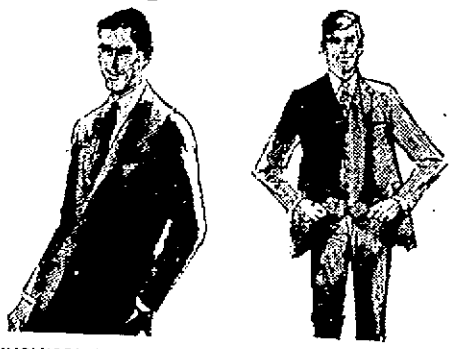

The mock trial is being staged by Bertrand Russell, Bristish philosopher-pacifist, and others who have accused the U. S. of committing war crimes. Informed sources said the Swedish government, which reluctantly permitted the "tribunal" to meet, would not allow any American prisoners of war to come to the trial under any circumstances.

New Pitchess Blast Over Budget Looms

From Our L. A. Bureau

Further blasts between Sheriff Peter Pitchess and other Los Angeles County officials may be in the offing as the result of pay hike recommendations Friday that fell far short of what he seeks for his officers.

Proposing to county supervisors increases that would total $21.8 million, Gordon T. Nesvig, director of personnel, recommended only a basic 2.75 per cent raise for the officers, compared with an average 8.25 per cent hike sought by Pitchess.

Some weeks ago the supervisors and the sheriff — all elected officials — were at odds when Pitchess carried his campaign for the raise and other benefits to a press conference at which he accused the supervisors of being "very patronizing" to his requests.

In the Nesvig recommendations, of which $13 million would fall directly on county tax funds, the sheriff's deputies are placed at a level with 46,308 other county employes, including firemen, out of a total 41,000 employe roll.

Nesvig recommended a beginning wage scale of $659-$776 for deputies, compared with last year's figure of $641-$755. He said the increase is the same as that recently recommended for Los Angeles city police, but he noted it may have to be changed if the police get more from their City Council.

On fringe benefits for deputies, he recommended $47,000 for false arrest insurance; $166,000 for shooting pay and $2,500 for merit awards and agreed on another fringe item sought by the sheriff, a proposed uniform allowance.

However, Nesvig opposed $164,000 for longevity pay the sheriff asks and rejects his request for overtime pay rates.

Nesvig proposes the biggest increases for hospital employes and medical personnel to keep pace with recent increases in private hospitals, but another area of conflict promises to be, with representatives of hospital workers.

Although Nesvig reached agreement with Local 434 of the County Employes Union on terms for the hospital workers it covers, Chief Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger opposes the recommendation that they go into effect June 1.

Hollinger, who has included $13 million in his budget recommendations for the fiscal year starting July 1, insists 'those employes get the raises then along with the others.

Mrs. Elinor Glenn, General manager of local 434, said members accepted Nesvig's offer 2,035 to $400, but the agreement could still "blow wide open" if Hollinger refuses to budge.

Nesvig also reported no agreement has been reached with the 33,000-member County Employes Assn. which had demanded $50 million more. He is also still at odds with Local 535 of the Social Workers Union, which struck against the county twice last year.

Nesvig reported that $6.4 million would be recovered from the state Medi-Cal program and $2.4 million would come from special district funds, with the rest from county general fund.

Flu-Like Epidemic Spreading

A flu-like epidemic that started among elementary school children in Long Beach two weeks ago is now progressing through the upper grades and starting to make inroads in industry.

Dr. I. D. Litwack, city health officer, said Friday the disease resembles the county-wide "significant outbreak of Type B influenza" reported by the County Health Department. Symptoms may include fever, headache, sore throat, vomiting and diarrhea. Recommended remedies include staying in bed, avoiding crowds and calling the family physician.

Dr. Litwack said absenteeism in the junior and senior high schools ranged from 10 to 12 per cent Friday, as compared with a normal absentee of about 4 per cent. The elementary schools are cuiously unaffected now, although the absentee problem existed at that level two weeks ago, Dr. Litwack said. In industries surveyed, the absentee level Friday was barely rising above normal levels. Samplings of private physicians indicated the flue-like illness was working its way upward through the age groups.

County health officials said they expected the influenza outbreak to increase sporadically for two or three weeks before it begins a decline.

* * *

DR. LITWACK also reported Friday that Long Beach will participate in an area-wide effort next month to eradicate measles.

A mass community immunization program will be conducted from June 1-6 at locations to be announced, he said. Vaccines, which provide "life immunity," are now available through family physicians.

Negroes List Grievances, Offer Recommendations

By CHARLES SUTTON

Eight representatives of the Negro community in Long Beach outlined a number of Negro grievances and made several recommendations for improving race relations in the city during a 1½-hour news conference Friday.

The conference was held against a backdrop of racial tension in the central district.

State Sen. Mervyn Dymally and Assemblyman William Greene, both Democrats from Los Angeles, had been scheduled to appear at the conference, but were prevented from doing so by the press of legislative business in Sacramento, they said.

Richard Harris, director of the Long Beach outpost of the Neighborhood Adult Participation Project and one of the speakers, said he had been in telephone contact with the two Negro lawmakers, and that both had said they would try to be in Long Beach Sunday.

The two men were to have helped present the Long Beach Negro community's position on a number of problems that have long been considered by Negro leaders to be a source of racial friction and possible violence in the city.

The eight spokesman were joined in the patio of the California Recreation Center, 1550 California Ave., by about 100 other persons, mostly young Negroes who feel a keen and impatient sense of dissatisfaction with the Negro's situation in Long Beach.

The dissatisfaction was articulated by the eight spokesmen, including Sonny Pitts, head of the Youth Action Movement, a militant self-help organization in the central area.

Pitts, reflecting the mood of many Negro youths, said the Negroes were getting a little tired "of being patted on the head" and given the equivalent of crumbs "when ever we go down to City Hall."

He said the Negro community wanted equality in all walks of life, and was impatient with the pace at which it was being achieved.

The panel's complaints touched on a number of problem areas, but primarily police-community relations and education. In the latter area, a thorough re-evaluation of the school system was suggested, along with continuous training of teachers in the ways of Negro life.

Among other complaints:

—School officials are putting too much federal money that is earmarked for the culturally deprived into capital equipment, and not enough into human enrichment.

—Negro men are often stopped on the streets and rousted by the police for little or no reason, while Negro women are also stopped on the streets and searched.

—Members of the Youth Action Movement are being privately followed by police officers.

—The poverty program has done little or nothing for most poor Negroes.

The speakers included Dr. Joseph White, assistant professor of psychology at California State College at Long Beach; Dr. Fillmore Freeman, a professor of chemistry at the college and head of the local chapter of the NAACP; Ernest Clark, head of Project Head Start with the Long Beach Community Improvement League; James Cummings, a social psychology student at CSLB; John Calloway, an aide with the Neighborhood Adult Participation Project; Rev. John McClung, and Pitts and Harris.

Blame Fatal Laguna Fire on Cigarette

A fire that killed 46-year-old Peter W. McAlmon when it roared through his luxury residence in the Three Arch Bay section of South Laguna Friday, was apparently caused by a smoldering cigarette, officials said.

McAlmon's charred body was found in a chair in the upstairs living room of the home at 26 La Senda Drive, fire officials and Deputy Coroner John Bricker said. The late-morning blaze had already engulfed the entire interior of the two-story structure before it was discovered by passersby.

McAlmon was a retired executive of his family's El Paso Tex., firm, Southwestern Surgical Supply Co.

Psychiatric Tests Due for Gun-Flinging Marine

FREMONT (UPI) — A Vietnam war veteran surrendered quietly Friday about 24 hours after he fired several shots at fellow guards at the Concord Naval Weapons Station.

Marine Cpl. David Lopez, 22, was taken by Fremont police to Treasure Island for psychiatric tests. He had been the object of a widespread manhunt in Contra Costa County after fleeing into the hills. No one was hit by the shots.

Lopez, depressed over what he saw while on duty in Vietnam and demoted from sergeant for "erratic behavior," hiked from Port Chicago to Dublin, then hitch-hiked to Fremont.

He telephoned his mother, Mrs. Elena Artimisti of Milpitas, shortly after midnight and she met him at a high school. She persuaded him to hand over a 38-caliber pistol.

The Marine told her he would surrender if allowed to visit his pet horse, Chicksaw. Fremont police Lt. Roger L. Newman agreed and picked up the AWOL serviceman a short time after he saw the horse in a barn.

"Lopez is a good kid," said Newman who turned him over to the armed services police.

Authorities said Lopez spent 14 months in the war zone and twice had his helmet shot off.

The young Marine's stepmother lives in Oakland. Mrs. David Lopez said the combat veteran had been upset since his return from Southeast Asia.

"He wasn't mean, but moody," she said. "We tried to get him to see a base doctor or one at Oak Knoll Naval Hospital but he wouldn't go."

A tape deck and 15 tapes worth $105 were stolen from a car owned by Wallace Brown, 259 E. Plymouth St., while the car was parked near his home, Long Beach police said Friday.

Assembly Gets Security Plan to Prevent Further 'Invasions'

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Chairman Joe A. Gonsalves, D-La Mirada, Friday spelled out how the Assembly Rules Committee will beef up Capitol security.

Gonsalves, former Dairy Valley mayor, unfolded the security program 24 hours after the committee probed how a band of young Negroes with loaded rifles forced their way into the Assembly chambers Monday. Gonsalves aid the program includes:

— A button so the doors to the Assembly may be locked automatically by gate sergeants.

— A new procedure for immediately summoning help from city police. A call for help was delayed for minutes Monday when a state policeman radioed his watch commander rather than alerting other law enforcement agencies. Only two state police were on duty in the Capitol.

— A new communications system in which state police and sergeants of arms in the Assembly will be in constant touch.

Gonsalves also ordered a study on a possible network in which cameras would record movements of people through any Capitlo entrance or hearing rom.

Gonsalves also announced that the committee had rejected a San Francisco Grand Jury recommendation it take steps to unseat Assemblyman Charles W. Meyers.

He said the jury provided the committee with little new information on allegations of wrong-doing by Meyers, a San Francisco Democrat.

Hayes Scores Transit Action of L.A. Officials

By JIM McCAULEY
From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, Friday branded as "premature and hasty" recent transit-financing endorsements of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and the Los Angeles City Council.

Hayes said such action should have been deferred until the fiscal books have been checked.

"Southern California Rapid Transit District was fully aware of an audit now under way by the legislative auditor general's office and should have requested the city and county to withhold endorsements until the audit is completed," he said.

* * *

THE AUDITOR general's office had hoped to complete a certification of the district's use of state tidelands oil funds in one day. But the first team of auditors, flown to Los Angeles May 1, 48 hours later asked for additional auditors to delve deeper into transit spending. Two more joined the audit.

"BECAUSE of the possible $1 billion involved in developing transit, all financing proposals should be examined in depth at a between-sessions study," he suggested.

Reapportion of Districts in Area Due

The 21st District, represented by Democrat Augustus Hawkins of Los Angeles, and the 35th, represented by Republican James B. Utt, of Santa Ana, are among 14 Congressional Districts in California that need reapportioning, a State Seante committee reported Friday.

Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, chairman of the Senate Elections and Reapportionment Committee, said U.S. Census Bureau calculations published at the end of 1966 show that 14 of the 38 California districts deviate more than 10 per cent from average district population. Mills's committee is working on redistricting recommended by the state legislative counsel.

Garrison Attempting to Link Oswald to CIA Activities

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The New Orelans States-Item said in a copyrighted story Friday that Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison was trying to prove Lee Harvey Oswald was a Central Intelligence Agency operative who aided the cause of anit-Castro Cubans.

The newspaper quoted "informed sources" and said that "additional evidence pointed increasingly toward a deep involvement on U.S. Central Intelligence Agency activities among certain principals in the D-A's continuing inquiry."

The story said Garrison's investiagtion was a direct challenge to the findings of the Warren Commission, which held that Oswald was the lone assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

"If Garrison's reported conclusions are proved correct, however, the Warren Commission would be refuted, not only by the existence of a plot, but by Oswald's active participation in CIA-sponosored anti-Communist activities," said the newspaper.

* * * *

THE NEWSPAPER said that its informed sources advised that "Oswald may have been trained as in intelligence agent at Japan's Atsugi Air Force Base, a known CIA instruction camp."

Garrison's investigation reportedly centered on the fact that Oswald used the address of a camp street building which also housed the offices of two anti-Communist organizations.

One was the Cuban Revolutionary Democratic Front, headed by Sergio Arcacha Smith, now in Dallas and wanted by Garrison for allegedly conspiring to burglarize a Houma, La., munitions dump in 1961.

The other key tenant in the building was Guy Banister Associates, headed by a former Federal Bureau of Investigation official and assistant superintendent of the New Orleans police.

"The D-A's office is said to have questioned witnesses who reported seeing Oswald, Banister, Arcacha and the late David W. Ferrie together in the building" said the States-Item.

* * * *

FERRIE, WHO WAS FIRED FROM his job as a pilot for Eastern Airlines, died Feb. 22, five days after Garrison's investigation was publicly revealed.

"Banister, who died of a heart attack in the summer of 1964, is believed to have worked in cooperation with a U.S. military intelligence officer here," said the newspaper.

The States-Item quoted another "informed source" as saying Banister "participated in every important anti-Communist South and Central American revolution which came along while he had the office on Lafayette Street."

Ferrie, who reportedly bragged of his role as a CIA commando in 1961, is one of three men Garrison said plotted the death of Kennedy in mid-September, 1963. The other two are Oswald and Shaw.

The newspaper said:

—"There is no indication of what part, if any, Garrison may believe Shaw played in anti-Communist activities here. Shaw's attorneys have denied reports published in Italy that Shaw was linked with operations supported by the CIA there.

—"The Garrison investigation's brightening spotlight on CIA-sponsored anit-Castro Cubans was prompted in part by reports that Cuban groups here were angry with Kennedy because he 'closed the door' on government military aid to them in the summer of 1963.

—"Two groups, one described as 'covet,' the other 'overt,' were being trained here by the CIA for operations against Castro as late as June, 1963. One of them, said to have been led by Ferrie, was instructed in guerrilla warfare at a camp in St. Tammany Parish (county) NSAR Lacombs, La."

Optimistic Forecast by Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Friday he believes the Republican nominee will win the presidential election in 1968, but he didn't count himself in on that prediction.

"I'm not including myself," Nixon said. "I am not the nominee."

Nixon, unsuccessful GOP presidential candidate in 1960 and considered a prime contender for next year's race, said he had not made up his mind whether to run.

"I am not being coy," he said. "It is the most important decision a man can make."

* * * *

HE GAVE his views before boarding a plane for Lima, Peru, on the start of a swing through five Latin-American countries in a continuation of his globe-circling tour. He already has visited Europe, including countries behind the Iron Curtain, and Asia.

Nixon said that Latin-American experts with whom he has spoken believe the Johnson administration is "rather dangerously" underestimating the Castro and Communist threat to the Western Hemisphere.

In explaining his prediction that the Republicans will capture the presidency, Nixon said it would come as a result of "a number of issues, including Vietnam."

* * * *

HE EXPRESSED hope the war "will not become a political or partisan issue." He said any discussion of the war should be "aimed to bringing it more quickly to a conclusion."

* * * *

MEANWHILE, in Wichita, Kan., Alf M. Landon said Friday night the Vietnam strategy of President Johnson has destroyed confidence in his leadership, then called for immediate decision whether the war is reaching the point of confrontation with Russia or China, or both.

"President Johnson's off-again, on-again, gone-again strategy in Vietnam shattered confidence in military and political minds all over the world in his leadership," Landon said.

Remarks of the former Kansas governor and 1936 Republican presidential nominee, were prepared for a "conference on China," at Wichita State University.

RFK Offers Demo Goals

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., warning the Democratic party is at a critical moment in its history, proposed Friday night a three-pronged philosophy "to shape a fresh set of goals and programs" for the nation.

The party must find such goals and programs "or be discarded as an instrument of national leadership," he said.

"Everywhere I go in this country, I find people groping for answers to problems that they barely understand," Kennedy said. "We cannot run on our record . . . for the nation asks how we propose to meet new problems."

Kennedy, in a speech to a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, told fellow Democrats the party was losing some supporters because many problems remain unsolved.

* * * *

"WE ARE losing the young, to extreme movements or to public indifference — for their fears and expectations have no answers in the politics of the past. We are losing members of the older generation who lack confidence in their ability to protect the future — and thus turn to conservative movements, hoping at least to protect what they already have.

"Radicalism and reaction, the new right and the new left, reflect a common theme — the desire of individuals to find some sense of inner significance by sharing in a larger common purpose," he said. Kennedy termed his three-part philosophy "new politics."

"First, we must above all find ways to liberate and enhance the importance of individual lives and actions; to protect ourselves against the giant organizations — sprawling government bureaucracies, huge impersonal corporations, and universities as big as cities — which threaten to overwhelm and obliterate the importance and value of individual man," he said.

"As we move to extend and deepen government protection of our people, we must understand the new meaning of justice — ending the dependency which pervades our social programs, and which is the antithesis of democracy. Our greatest failure toward those who have been denied American justice is not simply that our poverty programs are pitifully and shamefully inadequate; our greatest failure has been to refuse to recognize their rights as citizens.

* * * *

"WE HAVE GIVEN welfare handouts to mothers and children — but we have refused to create jobs for husbands and fathers, and thus have forced families to break up in order to receive our bounty.

"Third, we must begin to rebuild our sense of community, of human dialogue, of the thousand invisible strands of common experience and purpose, affection and respect, which tie men to their fellows," he said.

New York Times Service

DETROIT — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy Friday night endorsed James P. Hoffa, a Democratic candidate for a seat in Michigan's House of Representatives. Hoffa is the son of James R. Hoffa, the imprisoned Teamsters Union president. Kennedy began the suits that led to Hoffa's imprisonment.

Widow Asks $1 Million for Cave-in Death

A $1-million damage action because her husband died in a cavein of a sewer ditch in Seal Beach Leisure World Oct. 29 was filed Friday in Santa Ana Superior Court by Mrs. Marguerite Cagigas of Pomona.

Joining her in a companion action was George Widman, also of Pomona, who asked $200,000 for injuries he said he suffered in the mishap which cost the life of Henry J. Cagigas.

Both sued Leisure World, Rossmoor Sanitation Co., Toups Engineering Co. and the Dietz Co., who designed the line and Elmer Olson, operator of a trenching machine.

Romney Hits LBJ ON Viet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan Gov. George Romney accused President Johnson Friday of misleading the American public on the Vietnam War with manipulated, inflated and distorted reports.

Romney, generally regarded as the current favorite for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, gave the National Federation of Republican Women a broad attack on administration domestic and foreign policy and repeatedly used what may turn out to be his future campaign slogan: "There's a better way than LBJ."

"The people don't want a government that misleads America with manipulated, inflated and distorted reports on the conflict in Southeast Asia," he said.

* * * *

"THERE'S A better way — government that forthrightly tells us what's really going on.

"The people don't want a government that stumbles into international commitments that grow like Topsy. There's a better way, a foreign policy based on a consistent, realistic, long-range concept of America's world role."

Romney accused Johnson of squandering American prestige abroad by acting as a global policeman and financier.

Domestically, he said, Democratic leaders "are still trying to apply theories of the Thirties as the solutions of the Sixties, and they just don't work."

"The 'Great Society' methods have been too shallow and superficial," Romney said. "The truth is the 'Great Society' is really the 'great facade.'

The Michigan governor, who has backed President Johnson's course in Vietnam, did not document his charge about distorted reports on the Asian conflict.

UROC Opens Meet Here

Gov. Reagan will keynote UROC's banquet tonight in the Long Beach Arena. Gen. LeMay is today's luncheon speaker. Area balcony seats at $1 are available for LeMay's talk at about 1 p.m., and Reagan's at about 8:30 p.m.

CHAIRMAN Crosby, apparently unopposed in his draft-bid for reelection this afternoon, gave newsmen a sampling of more than 80 resolutions which the statewide Policy Committee will winnow today for selecting those to be voted on at Sunday's closing session.

One urges Congress to declare war on North Vietnam, "define limited powers of the commander in chief and secretary of defense, and turn the running of the war to the Joint Chiefs of Staff with orders to win the war as soon as possible."

Others would put UROC on record opposing a withholding system for state income tax; favoring tuition for colleges and universities; urging the call of a U.S. constitutional convention for dealing with reapportionment; firmly supporting the death penalty as a deterrent to capital crimes; waiving the GOP 11th Commandment against speaking ill of any Republican if that Republican fails to support, endorse and work for the GOP platform and candidates.

* * * *

WHILE THIS last item would make possible open warfare on Senator Kuchel by UROC's assessment of his career, Crosby said he "would have to oppose this resolution" on grounds that Republican campaign dialogue should not include name-calling nor giving ammunition to Democrats to use against Republicans.

A resolution from Newport Beach hit Kuchel's votes for the consular treaty, for supporting the Johnson administration, and charged that he has "used the Republican Party strictly as a guise to obtain funds to help the Democrat (sic) Party by his constant reelection under false pretense" and urged Kuchel to "reregister as a Democrat and seek the proper party label."

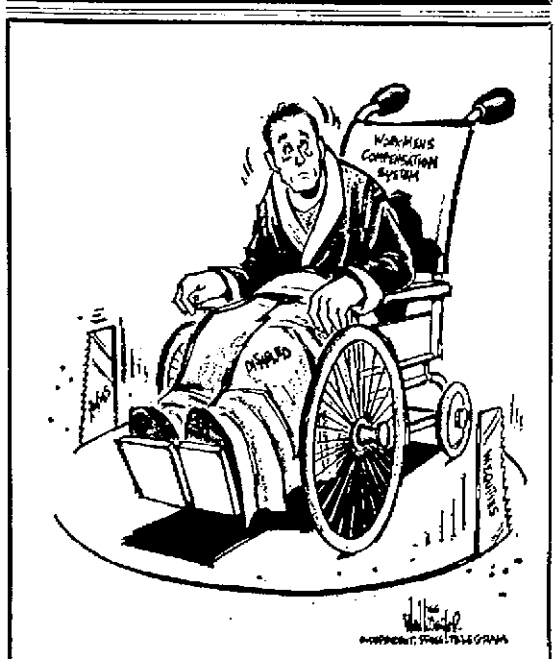

JOE CROSBY
Conservative Leader

Some 1,500 of UROC's 9,000 members are expected for general sessions. Crosby said state membership is ahead of last year's but noted UROC had 14,000 members at its peak. UROC was organized in 1963 as a breakaway from CRA which had become too liberal in UROC founders' view.

HE WAS A TEEN-AGER IN THE NAVY HIMSELF

A Chaplain's-Eye View of Marines

By LES RODNEY

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Joe H. Morgan, a strong looking but soft spoken man of God who is the new Protestant chaplain at the Marine Air Corps Facility in Santa Ana, sees the young men he serves as part of the population, not as some special breed just because they put on a uniform.

"We get what you send us, is what I tell the churches outside," he said in a chat this week. "The boys are a good cross section of the country. We have some wonderful young men here, and then there are some problem people. It's hard to make a blanket statement about them.

"Sadly enough," added the 43-year-old Texan, "I mostly have to deal with those who are in trouble."

Himself once a teen-age enlisted man, and now the father of two grown sons — one a yeoman second class at Travis Air Force Base, the other an aerial balloon research technician with Sea Space Systems in Torrance — Chaplain Morgan attributes tre fact of a fair number of "problem people" to two things:

"One is numerical, the harvest of what was called the war babies, coming of age. And two, the child psychology that was so prevalent, permissiveness." He shook his head sorrowfully. "If a boy grew up without any discipline, it's sometimes late in the day for him to learn it at this stage of his life."

* * * *

BUT THAT'S a minority. He also has seen an upswing in attendance at services, observed during his chaplaincy at Camp Pendleton, on Okinawa, with Destroyer Division 192 in Long Beach, and in his two months at the Santa Ana facility.

"Of course," he said, "for many of these boys this is directly related to the expectation of going overseas, but there's nothing wrong with that."

Vietnam is a reality, the chaplain said. "All have accepted the fact that they're going to be there. Actually, about half of the men here have already been there."

As to how the war affected these returnees: "These are good men. I have not seen any degeneration in them. I have seen some who returned from Vietnam turning to the religious vocations for their future. I know of at least six who have made the decision."

He readily agrees that there is no easy way of knowing whether some or all of these men might have turned to a religious career anyhow. As a chaplain, he is gratified by the fact that they HAVE been in the service, HAVE been to war, and are turning to God for their life's work.

* * * *

AS TO THE main thrust of his work at Santa Ana, just what a chaplain actually does in such a facility:

"Well, the biggest thing right now is organizing of the Sunday school and the chapel program, which is not much different from being a civilian pastor. There is some counseling, both with the men and with dependents, but not too much of that yet. Maybe I haven't been here long enough to establish the necessary rapport."

Some wives of men now overseas attend the base services regularly.

"There is the obvious factor of praying for the safety of their loved ones," the chaplain said, "but there's something else too. While they are separated in body, they want to establish a unity in spirit, to feel as one with their men, who are also praying."

This is usually the case where the serviceman had some degree of prior religious background, he noted.

One generalization he is prepared to make is that today's young serviceman is a much better informed person than his counterpart of another era. "They're better educated, know more about the world. Why just take TV alone! My nine-year-old daughter knows more than a lot of much older people would have before TV."

LT. CMDR. MORGAN
Enjoys His Work

Commander Morgan lives with his wife Blanche and young Clarissa at 618 N. Sherry Lane in Santa Ana.

* * * *

ANOTHER change between "now" and "then" is that all services at the base are completely integrated, and the chaplain (a Southern Baptist) wouldn't have it any other way.

"Though I was raised in Texas, I always felt churches should be integrated, open to all." His reasoning is simple. "We're all one in Christ."

He felt the same way about the Japanese people in the Hawaiin Islands during World War II, which is why he helped establish a church with a predominately Japanese congregation on the island of Maui.

This in spite of the fact that on that infamous Dec. 7, 1941, young Aviation Ordnanceman Third Class Joe Morgan found himself manning a machinegun which he hastily mounted inside a plane on a warmup mat at Ford Island — staying at his post 24 hours until reinforcements arrived.

If this sounds like a strange place to introduce such a dramatic fact — a natural "lead" for a newspaper story — a reporter can only explain that playing that up at the start would somehow be violative of the spirit and personality of this man.

"You know about Pearl Harbor," he shrugs. "Lots of men died, there were more real heroes than anyone could count. What I did was nothing special there. It was my job to help install guns in the planes. They weren't in when the attack came, so I did my job."

It was that very Sunday night that he decided to devote his life to the ministry. "I had felt the call prior to that," he recalls, "but realizing that night how close I had been to coming face to face with my Maker . . . that did it."

* * * *

WHILE stationed on Maui, he helped start the first Baptist Church there in 1945, and taught Sunday school.

"Baptists started their work in these islands just before the war," he explained. "The Japan-related Europe, the Orient and the religions, Shintoism and Buddrism, were closed down, which left a gap. We won many of the young people especially for Christianity, the second generation."

After the war Morgan went to Oklahoma Baptist University, then Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, and in 1954 returned to Maui to become pastor of the Wailuki Baptist Church.

In 1962 he went back to active duty, starting with a crash eight-week Navy chaplain school, and saw some action off the coast of Vietnam in July, 1965, with Destroyer Division 192.

There is no contradiction at all, says Chaplain Morgan, in being a chaplain for all Protestants (and Catholics on occasions) and the fact that Southern Baptists are not part of the ecumenical movement.

"Baptists are not exclusionists," he says. "Our institutional isolation is based on church policy, and our tradition of independent churches. Nobody could speak for all Southern Baptists anyhow. My own idea is that Christian unity must come first from within the individual spirit, not from the top.

"But we certainly try to get along with everyone. I may disagree with someone else on religion, but I'll fight for his right to believe as he sees fit.

"As a chaplain, I try to meet the personal and religious needs of anyone at all. Any time that's not practical in a particular instance, I'll see that they get what they are seeking."

Above all, Chaplain Morgan enjoys working with the servicemen and finds it a challenge, which to him amounts to the same thing. That is, if there were no challenge, he wouldn't enjoy doing something.

He has nine years to go until retirement.

And then?

He esmiled. "Back to the island."

Lutheran Plea

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A congressional hearing was told here that Lutheran churches favor a more fully developed system of educational television in the belief that it would improve the total broadcasting services in the United States.

A CORRECTION

A typographical mishap last Saturday obscured the meaning of a quotation by Rev. J. Irwin Trotter in an interview on the Consultation on Church Union. It should have read:

"COCU may not necessarily be the answer," he readily concedes. "It could conceivably become another medieaval-type structure, and again produce new divisions." But he is cautiously optimistic . . .

BOOKS

Negro Church Priority

THE POLITICS OF GOD. By Joseph R. Washington Jr., Beacon Press, $5.95.

Joseph R. Washington Jr., Dean of the Chapel and Associate Professor of Religion at Albion College, urges, in his new book, Negro acceptance of a "chosen people" mission for the sake of mankind as a whole. "The Negro's seeming undeserved punishment," he writes, "Is his opportunity to release all man from the sin of ingroupness . . . The institutional center of the Negro community is the Negro church . . . If the Negro church will enter the arena of black politics . . . it will together with other groups in large measure determine whether the Negro will remain half slave and half free . . . They must first seek the Kingdom of God and then all else will be added. This is not only black politics, it is good politics, it is . . . the politics of God."

Dr. Washington, who three years ago in "Black Religion" asked white Christian reasonableness for a meaningful integration of the Negro church into the mainstream of American religion, now has eluctantly, in the light of events, come to conclude that "reason . . . tends to be of merely academic significance to the general will of the people in the daily grind where it counts . . . mainstream religion has been superseded by established white-folk religion whose kingdom is a direct confrontation of the Kingdom of God . . . Since for the foreseeable future institutions of religion dominated by Negroes will continue to exist in segregation . . . the black hope of all mankind is the fixed presence of this people as the witness that God will not leave man to be satisfied with his group preferences, without conflict within the Kingdom of God."

Two St. Anthony Grads Ordained

Two Long Beach natives were among 17 new Roman Catholic priests who were ordained by Cardinal McIntyre last Saturday, and both celebrated their first Solemn Masses on Sunday in St. Anthony's Church.

Rev. Jonathan Callahan, 25, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Callahan, attended St. Anthony's grammar and high schools and went on to St. John's Seminary.

Rev. Richard James Gleason, also 25, son of Mrs. Doris and the late James Gleason, also attended St. Queen of Angels Seminary Anthony's, and went on to before entering St. John's.

Father Callahan and Father Gleason were honored at a joint reception in St. Anthony's Sunday following the two Solemn Masses.

GROOVY TEEN-AGE DANCES UNDER METHODIST AUSPICES A BIG HIT

Even though some old-timers may frown disapproval, teen-agers are proving that dancing under church auspices provides definite moral benefits for youth and a community.

Cited as a model is the Methodist Youth Fellowship in Chatham, New Jersey.

For two years the MYF there has been staging dances on alternate Saturday nights in the Union Methodis Church's fellowship hall.

"All the kids in town" — regardless of religious affiliation — are welcome, it is reported in the May issue of Together magazine.

There is live music under pastel floodlights at a reasonable admission price, with chaperones who are "with it." The usual crowd numbers 400 to 450 teenagers, but several hundred more have turned out on occasion.

Chatham is a town of youthful couples used to go frequently on weekend dates before the "Grotto" City, where numbers of 10,000 only an hour's driving time frm New York was opened by the church.

"If there's something to keep kids here in Chatham on Saturday night, they'll stay," Lee Cunningham bluntly impressed upon church leaders. "But it has to be really good."

"The only way to expect responsibility from youths is to give them that responsibility," it is stated in a booklet outlining the Chatham program which is a model for similar youth centers.

"MYF members take full responsibility for every phase of the Grotto," the article reports. The teens line up six young couples audition and book bands, (preferably not parents of MYF members) as chaperones, stock and sell soft drinks, man the coatroom, supervise the doorcheck and cleanup after the dances.

As each teen enters the hall, he shows his identification card which is checked with the serial number and signature in a master card file. There is no gate-crashing. No "tough" clothes are permitted. Girls in shorts or boys in jeans or leather jackets are told quietly "but firmly" to go home and change into school clothes.

In addition to the chaperones, the MYF hires an off-duty policeman — uniformed — to be on hand. Neither smoking nor drinking is tolerated.

"Careful planning has paid off," says the article.

The Grotto dances are part of a wide-ranging MYF program, which includes morning worhip, a senior seminary (extension of church school) and evening meeting every Sunday, discussions Thursday nights, informal social gatherings Friday evenings, plus occasional weekend retreats, service to shut-in, an annual mission work weekend, fund-raising projects, occasional chartered bus trips, teaching in a community center and special seasonal work.

L.B. Unitarian Pastor Tells of National Poll Paradoxes

Unitarians and Universalists of North America overwhelmingly believe that divorce laws of the continent need a liberal overhauling, a recent poll shows, but the same poll also indicates an unusually low divorce rate among that denomination's members. Only 13.4 per cent have ever been divorced while 77.6 per cent are, or have been, married without divorce.

Paradox? Only an apparent paradox, says Dr. John Nicholls Booth, pastor of Long Beach's lively First Unitarian Church, commenting on the recent National Opinion Research Center poll of 7 per cent of all the Unitarians and Universalists in America.

Take the question of sexual mores. The pool shows that 55.6 per cent of the members believe that the matter of sexual relations between adult unmarried persons, or on an extra-marital basis, should be left to free choice, not subject to laws. (Another 43.4 per cent hold that extra-marital relations are "never justifiable.")

Yet, Dr. Booth points out, the denomination has one of the lowest delinquency rates, both adult and juvenile, in the nation. "I've never had to visit a Unitarian in prison, and I've yet to go to court on behalf of one of our young people," he says.

The poll findings on attitudes towards divorce and sex relations need to be understood in the context of a strong historic emphasis, says Dr. Booth.

"Unitarians and Universalists stress individual freedom of choice, maturely and thoughtfully made, without so many traditional authoritarian rules," he says. "Their desire to permit freedom for choice on sex matters does not necessarily indicate support for relations between unmarried people.

"The members develop a strong sense of individual responsibility as part of their philosophy. In consequence, the institution of marriage, social mores and individual choices usually reflect an unusually strict series of decisions for themselves."

This attitude of responsibility, he says, is carried into community relations, pointing to the survey findings that 55 per cent belong to at least one social concerns organization in their community: 12.5 per cent to the American Civil Liberties Union; 11.3 per cent to the League of Women Voters; 10.7 per cent to planned parenthood associations; 16 per cent to funeral reform societies, to name a few.

The poll, also noted Dr. Booth, confirms that the church is heavily weighted on the intellectual side. "Overweighted, actually," he commented. Eighty four per cent have been to college; 25 per cent hold two or more college degrees; 62.5 per cent of all Unitarians and Universalists work in the professions; 13 per cent are teachers.

"One readily understands from these figures why the impact of the movement, which is relatively small in numbers compared to some of the mass denominations, has been so great upon our nation's culture and history," observes Dr. Booth.

The survey also placed among the more affluent, with 65 per cent of the members earning over $10,000 a year.

BRIEFLY . . .

S. Baptist in Council; Happy Marriage RX

As the folk song goes, "The Times They Are A'Changing . . ." From an article by Baptist Press in the weekly California Southern Baptist we learn that the National Council of Churches has named a Southern Baptist minister to its professional staff.

Harold Martin, 28, former minister of education at First Baptist of Blytheville, Ark. is already at work as promotion assistant for the council's Radio, Visual Education, and Mass Communications Committee (RAVEMCCO) which coordinates use of media for the Overseas Ministries Division.

The Southern Baptists, who hold a slim lead over the Methodists as the largest single Protestant denomination, are not members of the National Council, and remain aloof from the ecumenical movement, though individual members work with some specific Council programs. Martin is the first full-time Council staff member.

The Oklahoma native told Baptist Press he hopes to make a small contribution toward breaking down some stereotyped images of Southern Baptists, and also expressed hope that Southern Baptists, in turn, can break through some of the sterotyed images and prejudices they have toward the National Council.

"I will continue to be a Southern Baptist," he said, ". . . I hope to bring about . . . improved understanding and more love, all for the sake of the gospel."

Martin added that he felt sure he would receive criticism from some Baptists for his decision, but added he believed "each person must decide for himself what his own role should be in the Christian ministry in the light of God's leadership, and understanding of self."

NEXT SATURDAY, May 13, the biennial Disaster and Famine Relief Offering will be received by some 3,300 churches of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination in North America, Mrs. Emma Thomas, health and welfare leader of Long Beach's Philadelphian Seventh-Day Adventist Church, reports that last year nearly $3 million worth of medicines and medical supplies alone went to combat diseases in 36 countries, as well as clothing and food.

In 1966, the local Philadelphian church, which incidentally has a mostly Negro congregation, distributed 500 articles of clothing, 20 food baskets in this area.

YOU JUST can't tell what a preacher will say these days.

Here's a man up in Canada — and a specialist in marital counseling at that — who says husbands and wives ought to fight occasionally.

Rev. Dr. J. Mervyn Dickinson, a minister of the United Church of Canada and director of a pastoral counseling center in Toronto, advanced this argument in an article published by the United Church Observer.

He said there is no "more dangerous fantasy than that Christian marriage can be a state of peaceful, conflict-free togetherness."

"One cannot have a close and loving relationship without also having anger and conflict," he said. "You just don't get one without the other."

The only way a couple can achieve peace-at-any-price is to draw apart each other emotionally, erecting "defensive barriers between themselves."

FROM THE PULPIT

Recently an article by Dan Thrapp in the Times on the Unitarian Church gave some shocking statistics. I was shocked that almost 75 per cent of those participating in the survey believed that pre-marital sex was justified and only 43 per cent believed that extra-marital sexual intercourse was never justifiable.
But this was not as shocking as the fact that only 2.9% believed in God as a supernatural Being. After the death of Christ, 81% believed that the Church created the idea of His divinity.
They consider themselves most distant from Roman Catholics, but almost as far from fundamentalists. They are as far removed from the Bible as one can get. "Thou shalt not commit adultery" and "If you believe not that I am He, you shall die in your sins" complete'y excludes this type thinking.
Any religion that you may choose may be alright to live by, but only the Christianity of the Bible is sufficient to die by. Be not deceived. God is not mocked!

CONFIDENT LIVING

All Problems Have Solutions

Bp NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Funny how things work out.

I had a date to speak at a meeting in Columbus, Ohio. My plane was scheduled to leave at 3 p.m. but, when I got to Kennedy International Airport, a freak combination of smog and fog had cancelled out the flight. "Our next plane to Columbus leaves at 7:30," the agent said, "but tell you what, another airline has one leaving at 4:00. I'll check and see if by any chance they can put you on." So she called and told of my plight, but there was already a long stand-by passenger list and no chance of anyone else getting on.

I sat down to think. The people expecting me to talk that evening were planning to build a new church. I hated to let them down. The time was now 3:30. Could I drive to Columbus? A moment's calculating of time and distance told me that was out.

What else could I do? I asked myself. What's so important about this anyhow? There are ministers at Columbus who might give a better talk than I could. I could call one of them and ask him to pinch-hit for me . . . But somehow I kept feeling I ought to do something more about getting there.

* * * *

I CALLED my secretary — although for no special reason that she could do anything. She said, "Let me make a phone call. I'll call you back in a few minutes."

Then I decided to leave it up to the good Lord. If he really wanted me to go to Columbus he would have to provide a way. I put it in his hands.

Fifteen minutes later my secretary called back to say I had a seat on the four o'clock plane of the other airline. "But you'll have to get over there fast!" she warned. I got there fast. The place was bedlam. Feel embarrassed at the priority I was being given I hurried past a lot of waiting people and onto the plane. I hoped they were not bumping somebody whose presence in Columbus was more important than mine.

Anyway I got to the meeting. Despite a snowstorm so thick you could hardly see through it a big crowd had turned out in Columbus. I was so impressed by the help of God in getting me there that I told the people my experience. "It makes me think there must be somebody present here," I said, "for whom God has a message He expects me to convey. Now I don't know what that person's problem may be, but I'll state my thoughts on handling a tough problem in general."

What I said was this in essence: Do all you can to solve your problem by thinking creatively. Think it through, work at it, struggle with it, give it all you've got. But if after trying every approach you can think of, the unsolved problem is still with you and you're getting nowhere, then stop struggling and put it in God's hands.

A few days later I received a beautiful letter from a young woman. "I really had no intention of attending the meeting the other night," she wrote. "But I heard you would be in Columbus and something made me feel I ought to go.

* * * *

"I HAVE had a big problem weighing on me — one involving other people and my choice of a life companion. It so happens I had never understood before that when you've thought and thought about a problem and it's just too much for you, then you should put it in God's hands. So that is what I did, right then while you were talking. Immediately I felt a sudden calm within me and now, after a few days have passed, an importamt part of the problem has resolved itself — and very happily.

"Our lives don't always need to be as complicated as we make them," she concluded.

The secret of getting life de-complicated is simplicity itself. "If in humility you adapt yourself, you will remain complete" said the sages of ancient China.

Meet difficulties with your own mind as far as it will take you, but when a problem proves too much for your every human resource, be willing to leave the outcome to the Divine Mind. You will then be equal to any situation — able to change what you can change and able to live serenely with what you cannot, a complete person having inner peace.

Film Series for Sailors

A filmed Bible course, consisting of 12 more weekly one-hour classes, is being offered each Thursday at the Long Beach Naval Station piers to aid young destroyermen in their search for "reality" and to help them combat many of the "corrupting influences" youth is confronted with today.

Sponsored by the Cruiser-Destroyer Force chaplains in Long Beach, the classes are being held in Building 736 at 7 p.m. At each class a 20 or 25-minute film is shown first, followed by a discussion period. Coffee and doughnuts are also thrown in.

The course, which concentrates on the Four Gospels, was obtained and scheduled by Lt. Cmdr. Joseph F. Brennan, chaplain for the ComCruDesPac Logistics Representative in Long Beach.

Chaplain Bennan said, "We (the chaplains) are trying to point the way to the true meaning of life. At the same time we are trying to answer the spirit of rebellious youth of today."

"We are particularly concerned about the widespread use of LSD. We don't want young Navymen to be tempted to use this drug or to give way to a number of other corrupting influences."

Entitled "Christ and the Meaning of Life," the 13-week Bible course was prepared and delivered to large television audiences by Dr. Edward W. Bauman, whose courses have won many awards, including the Emmy Award of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for the "best locally produced educational program or series presented in cooperation with an educational institution."

While the filmed Bible course has been obtained for showing to Long Beach destroyermen, military men from nearby commands and their dependents are also invited to sit in on the classes.

Some 'Radical' Ideas for Updating Church

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

One of America's ablest Protestant ministers explained in an interview this week why the parish-congregation is no longer a satisfactory vehicle for doing the work of Christ in urban areas. And he offered some practical suggestions for reorganizing local churches along more functional lines.

Rev. Dr. David Colwell, pastor of First Congregational United Church of Christ in downtown Washington, D.C., said at least three things are seriously wrong with the present set-up.

First, "too many congregations use up all of their resources on keeping going." They invest so much money and manpower in institutional housekeeping that they have little or nothing to contribute to the outside world.

The second shortcoming is closely related to the first. The typical parish-congregation is preoccupied with providing a chaplaincy for its own members. It is not geared for the humble, servant role which Jesus performed in his compassionate ministry to the poor, the sick, the lonely and the ostracized of society.

* * * *

THIRD, "MOST congregations are of such size that they can afford only a single pastor." This one man is expected to function as preacher, counselor, friend, teacher, administrator, and representative of the church in civic affairs. "It is almost impossible for any individual to be good at all of these things," said Dr. Colwell.

The first step, he said, is to line up several congregations which are ready to take some risks. "The number could be as few as three or four, or as many as 10." They wouldn't necessarily have to be from the same demomination: It might make for greater vitality if they weren't.

"One of the existing church buildings — the largest one — would be maintained as a House of Worship for all of the participating groups. Two highly trained pastors would there carry forward the ministry of preaching and worship and the sacraments — that is, the chaplaincy function. Multiple services would be held and they would be conducted with differing liturgical forms, to preserve all of the rich variety that now exists."

Some of the other church buildings would be remodeled to serve as education centers. There would be much greater emphasis on adult education. And courses would be planned at all age levels to appeal not only to the "regulars" already in the fold, but also to any member of the community interested in learning more about Christianity.

* * * *

CHURCH buildings not needed for education would be sold, and the money formerly spent on their upkeep could be put to work in community service projects.

Each member would be urged to select "the particular place where he would like to serve in a specialized lay ministry." Some no doubt would prefer conventional activities such as singing in the choir, ushering or teaching. But many, particularly the younger members, probably would enlist in the "servant ministry" to the community, said the brawny clergyman who once played fullback for Yale.

"There would be many problems, but undoubtedly the chief one is inertia. The concept sounds radical, but it is really much closer to the pattern of the early Christian church than the set-up we have in America today."

Vietnam Personnel Flow Steady

LT. GEN. BUSE

By BUCK LANIER

Personnel pipelines are steady going into Vietnam for the Marine Corps, but keeping them blanaced is a problem.

Lt. Gen. Henry W. Buse Jr., deputy chief of staff for plans and programs, said Friday "a close look is being taken to assure the lines remaining steadier." There are 75,000 Marines in Vietnam now.

The general is the ranking officer present at the Marine Corps Reserve Officers Assn. annual conference in Disneyland Hotel. He is representing the Corps commandant, Gen. Wallace M. Greene Jr.

The commandant has recommened that the 4th Marine Division be called up. This is the reserve group of some 20,000.

A nucleus headquarters for the 4th is set up already at Camp Pendleton. It is commanded by Maj. Gen. Lewis J. Fields, also Pendleton's commander.

"When we have to slug it out with the Viet Cong, our record speaks for itself," Gen. Buse said. "Militarily, we are in fine shape.

"I will admit that our pacification program to win the people, too, is being deterred now by the stepped-up fighting near the demilitarized zone."

He said involuntary extensions were a "big help" in Vietnam, since there always is room for skilled noncommissioned officers to remain on duty another six or 13 months.

The convention continues today with luncheon addresses by U.S. Rep. James C. Corman, D-Van Nuys, and Maj. Gen. William G. Trash, commander, Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro. Gen. Buse will be tonight's banquet speaker.

DREW PEARSON COLUMN

Allen Zoll, Hate Veteran, Moves to Capitol

By DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — A tall, severe-looking man, the creases of age showing in his harsh face, has moved into the Washington headquarters of the Liberty Lobby, where he suddenly has become absorbed in some secret and mysterious project.

He is Allen Zoll, one of the crusty veterans in the hate racket, who has been peddling anti-Semitism and fascism since the 1930s. In 1936, he founded American Patriots Inc., which was officially labeled "fascist" by the Justice Department.

Thereafter, he became associated with Gerald L. K. Smith, a notorious anti-Semitic rabble-rouser. Now Zoll has formed an alliance with the Liberty Lobby, whose founder and leader, Willis Carto, is also fascist-minded. In private correspondence, Carto has called the defeat of Nazi Germany a tragedy for civilization and has advocated the shipment of all American Negroes to Africa.

* * *

SHORTLY after Zoll slipped into Washington and took up office space at the Liberty Lobby, another rumpled old man showed up for urgent, secret conferences.

He is oilman H. L. Hunt, a onetime barber who now makes an estimated $1 million a week and who lives in Dallas in what is supposed to be a replica of Mount Vernon. A sugar daddy for right-wing causes, he is bitterly opposed to government doles for everyone except oil millionaires. He has come out foursquare for motherhood, God and the 27½ per cent depletion allowance.

In a book called "Alpaca," ghost-written for him, Hunt has set forth his ideal government as one in which "the more taxes you pay, the more votes you get . . . If you accept state aid because you are poor or sick, you cannot vote at all, and you are denied an old-age pension."

HUNT has boasted to reporters that the book has been translated, party by Jesuit priests, into half a dozen languages, including Mandarin and Vietnamese. Hunt sent copies to each delegate to South Vietnam's General Assembly, which has been trying to bring democracy to its embattled country.

Hunt, Zoll, Carto and Co. have been conferring in strict secrecy. The only one who has let out a peep about it is Hunt, who has said only that he is pushing an election-reform idea. He would like future presidents to be elected by electors who would be selected by their constituencies, one from each congressional district.

The Liberty Lobby people, said Hunt, came to him — for money, no doubt — though he didn't elaborate.

* * *

PRESIDENT Johnson called upon his cabinet behind closed doors the other day to mobilize more pressure on Congress to pass his Great Society program.

He acknowledged that the increased Republican strength had made this Congress a "tough nut to crack," but complained that his cabinet could push harder than they were doing. He said that friction between Congress and the President is inevitable toward the end of a term. Eventually Congress takes the measure of every President, he said, and he didn't expect to be an exception. He could speak from experience as a longtime senator and congressman.

Therefore, he urged his cabinet officers to make an extra effort on Capitol Hill. Specifically, he asked Postmaster General Larry O'Brien to give first priority to pushing key Great Society bills through Congress. He also asked Vice President Humphrey to assist. He particularly singled out bills on crime, education, model cities and rent supplements on which he wants action.

MEDICAL TECHNOLOGIST MRS. HELEN HARRIS PUTS SAMPLE THROUGH AUTOANALYZER

Fascinating Machine —but Don't Touch It!

By BEN ZINGER
Medical -Science Editor

At first glance it looks like part of the set fro mthe science-fiction film "Fantastic Voyage."

The second impression is; "my gosh, a saucer HAS landed."

"The Thing," which also resembles something Dr. Frankenstein might keep down in the basement to energize his monsters, is housed in a second-floor laboratory room at Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital.

It's a 900-pound, U-shaped console replete with yards of spaghetti-like tubing, colored lamps, blinking lights, buzzers, a flame and yards of graph paper.

The technologist in charge smiles—but you don't realize the gravity of the situation until you read the sign on the door of the device:

"ACH'TUNG! Das machine is nicht fur Gerfingerpoken and mittengraben. Is easy schnappen der Springenwerk, blowenfusen and poppencorken mit spitzensparken. Ist nicht for gewerken by das Dummkopfen. Das rubbernecken sightseeren keepen hands in das pockets. Relaxen and watch das Blinkenlights."

In short, keep your hands off this new $30,000 Technicon SMA-12.

SMA-12, pride of the hospital's clinical laboratory, is the short-form description of a 12-channel sequential multiple Auto Analyzer—which, in turn, means that "The Thing" is an automated 12-test blood-chemistry analyzer.

It's speedy. Look at it this way: If Dow and Jones were doctors, you'd have your Dow-Jones body-chemistry averages in less time than it takes to read the financial page.

It's a workhorse. It performs 12 tests on a thimbleful of blood serum in 15 minutes. One doctor has said that it can perform a continuing series of tests during a six-hour period that would ordinarily take one technologist, working full time, three months to complete.

LITTLE WONDER THENthat doctors say the SMA-12 can do blood tests cheaper by the dozen.

Briefly, here's how it works.

A sample of a patient's blood is "spun down" in a centrifuge—and the thin, water-looking serum obtained by this procedure is placed in a plastic cup slightly larger than a thimble.

The little cup is dropped into a circular tray on the analyzer.

SMA-12 then takes over. The tray rotates—and into each sample disc a small tube, which "drinks" a small amount of the blood serum into the inlet of the system's tubing network. The tray moves. Another sample. And so on.

Once inside the tubing network, the serum sample is separated into 11 portions by air bubbles and "slugs" of wash water.

EACH PORTION FOLLOWS its own separate route through the machine parallel to the other 10 routes, moving through tubes about the size of soda straws.

Only 11 parallel paths are required, as one pathway yields two findings—sodium and potassium.

Fifteen minutes after the sample's entry into the system, a bar is etched across a chart, to disclose 12 findings about the patient's blood chemistry.

After every 10 samples, a control sample is put through the system, says Mrs. Helen Harris, medical technologist.

The analyzer gives readings on the following chemical components of blood serum: sodium, potassium, chloride, carbon dioxide, total protein, albumin, calcium, alkaline phosphatase, bilirubin, blood urea nitrogen, glucose and transaminase.

THE SODIUM, CHLORIDE, potassium and carbon dioxide are known as electrolytes and plap a role in maintaining proper acid-base balance in the body. Accurate determination of the levels of these is valuable in caring for patients with diabetes or heart failure, and in giving information about surgical patients.

The blood glucose tells the sugar level which is concerned with carbohydrate metabolism and thus is a test of pancreatic and liver function. The information is important in the treatment of diabetes.

Blood urea nitrogen is an important test of kidney function.

Blood calcium gives information about diseases affecting bones.

Bilirubin, a pigment from red cells, can detect jaundice.

Total blood protein can show presence or absence of various chronic illnesses. Blood albumin, a fraction of blood proteins, adds to the interpretation of altered total protein content.

Alkaline phosphtase, an enzyme, can detect bone destruction by cancer.

TRANSAMINASE, AN ENZYME, is elevated in persons who have suffered heart attacks.

Thus this bevy of tests can turn up abnormalities which may lead to a diagnosis of diabetes, gout, kidney disease, liver disease or heart trouble.

The new device will be ready for general use within the next few weeks.

A VA doctor will then have test findings available within two hours instead of the previous, 12, VA officials say. Test results will be available even sooner when the messenger system is improved.

The SMA12—das Blinkenlights ist wunder mit das Blut.

Court Bars New Action on Officer

Stanton's City Council was enjoined late Friday from reopening its case against discharged Police Lt. James Brown, whose reinstatement had been recommended by an appeals board.

Attorney Matt Kurilich obtained a temporary restraining order from Superior Court Judge Herbert L. Herlands at Santa Ana, and the court ordered the City Council to show cause May 12 why the restraint should not be made permanent.

This action blocked a new hearing, scheduled Friday night, for what Lt. Brown claimed was a council intention to set aside the appeals board recommendation that he be reinstated as a lieutenant.

Brown was discharged March 24 for allegedly striking a prisoner who had kicked him in the groin.

Airline Takes Delivery of 2 'Long' DC9s

Northeast Airlines took delivery of its first two extended-fuselage DC9 Jetliners Friday at the Long Beach Douglas Aircraft Division.

First of 14 DC9s, ordered by the Boston-based carrier, they were accepted by F. C. Wiser, Northeast president, and James Leet, senior executive vice president, from Jackson McGowen, Douglas group vice president-aircraft.

TOPLESS ENTERTAINERS WIN Restraining Order Sticks

Topless entertainers were given carte blanche Friday by Orange County Superior Court Judge Herbert L. Herlands to operate in Tustin's lone topless bar, Jim Dandy's 18352 Fourth St.

Judge Herlands refused to lift a restraining order against Tustin Police preventing them from raiding the bar and arresting the owner, Robert Dill, and any topless dancers performing.

In essence, the judge ruled the city's emergency ordinance was specifically aimed at preventing topless dancers from performing, and as such, was considered to be unconstitutional by the California Supreme Court.

"It is also my opinion," the judge said, "that the state has taken away city rights to ban topless entertainment."

Judge Herlands, however, gave city attorney James G. Rourke two alternatives:

"You can file an appeal with the Appellate Court, or, rewrite the ordinance to eliminate the 'topless' and cover all forms of 'entertainment'."

Judge Herlands indicated the entertainment ordinances drafted by Garden Grove and Cost Mesa, both currently embroiled in topless controversies, might be used as a guide for future Tustin topless ordinances.

THE JUDGE POINTED out that it would be legally correct to deny an entertainment permit for topless dancing if the city could produce evidence that indicated either the bar owner, or dancer, had background that would classify them as "undesirable."

In the Garden Grove and Costa Mesa cases due up later this month, bar managers and dancers were arrested for operating without a city entertainment permit, which the city refused to issue.

Meanwhile, Santa Ana, which saw its third topless bar go into operation two weeks ago, is sitting back and "studying the matter" according to city officials.

CONGRESSIONAL ACCOLADE FOR L.B. MEDIC

Lt. Col. Thomas G. Luparello, staff physician at the Long Beach Veterans Hospital, holds Congressional citation praising his "exceptional service to the Long Beach community and to veterans," presented to him in ceremonies at Veterans Memorial Building Friday night. Looking on are Joseph J. Unglo (center) commander of Long Beach Chapter No. 210, Military Order of the Purple Heart, and Clifford Parmenter (right) past national commander of the order. Award of citation was a highlight at installation ceremonies of Purple Heart officers for 1967-68 year. Byron J. Hoskin was installed as new commander.

$200 in Coins Gone

Fred E. Wilbert, 2071 Eucalyptus Ave., told Long Beach police Friday prowlers who removed a window screen to enter his home stole a $200 coin collection.

Trial Set in Slaying of Woman

William T. Blakeman, 25-year-old Seattle electronics firm employe, was ordered to trial May 22 under a grand jury indictment that hemurdered Gloria Dawn Collins after a Fullerton party March 4.

Miss Collins, a distillery secretary from Vancouver, B.C., was found bludgeoned and stabbed the morning she was to have flown home from a week's visit with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Comiskey, of 3106 Pearl Drive., Fullerton.

Blakeman will appear in Santa Ana Superior Court May 10 at 2 p.m. to ask that the court order the district attorney to disclose evidence against him.

Blakeman was held in Orange County jail without bail, pending the May 22 trial ordered by Superior Court judge Byron McMillan.

Thief Fills Battery Before Pilfering It

A burglar who broke into the Texaco Service Station, 1203 E. San Antonio Road, filled a new battery with battery acid before he stole it Friday, Long Beach police said.

He also took a new radio and coins from the station change box. Police said total loss was $120.

Marine Board Opens Probe of Copter Crash Fatal to Four

A Marine Corps board of inquiry sought Friday to learn why a Sea Knight twin-rotor helicopter crashed Wednesday night at Mission Viejo, with loss of four men attached to the Santa Ana Marine Corps Air Facility.

Richard Wilcox, manager of the Mission Viejo Swim Club, said he saw the CH-46D troop transport chopper throw a rotor blade, stagger out of control and then crash alongside a ditch not far from the Mission Viejo golf course.

The Marine board said it hopes to find other witnesses, adding that "there must have been many of them" since the chopper crashed just off San Diego Freeway and La Paz Road at 6:45 p.m., when many motorists were homeward bound.

Robert Marusich, a research engineer with Autonetics at Anaheim, said that he saw the craft's fatal plunge "out of the corner of my eye" but could not tell what happened. He was driving home at the time.

THE TWIN-TURBINE helicopter was destroyed when it crashed, mangling the bodies of the crew aboard. It was the first Sea Knight to go down since training in them began a year ago at the Air Facility, the Marine helicopter base southeast of Santa Ana.

Capt. Vince Tesulov, 29, of Costa Mesa, was its pilot, and 1st. Lt. Loyd E. Knutson Jr. 23, of Manhattan Beach, was co-pilot. Crewmen were Cpl. Larry G. Norman, 20, of Santa Ana, and Lance Cpl. Michael F. Hansen, 19, of Garland, Tex.

Salvation Army Expresses Appreciation for Many Aids

Appreciation for support of the Salvation Army's current spring campaign for its Red Shield truck and social service program to help homeless, handicapped and unemployed men was expressed Friday by the chairman.

The service throughout the Long Beach and South Bay areas is sustained through donations of discarded materials such as clothing, shoes, home appliances and furniture from homes and business.

"I am deeply grateful to the many educators and businessmen who have joined hands with me in keeping the Salvation Army Red Shield trucks rolling for humanity's sake," said Chairman Dr. Theron Freeze.

Lt. Col. Ranson Gifford, area manager, said proceeds from Red Shield Thrift Shops in Long Beach, North Long Beach, San Pedro, Torrance, Norwalk, Redondo Beach, Gardena and Bellflower make possible services that include full time employment of 840 men. Persons who have serviceable items to offer should contact the Army in the area nearest them.

Midget Cow Roams Signal Hill Range

A midget cow in a Signal Hill pasture draws the attention of many passersby.

The owner, Loyd Garrett, says she is a purebred Hereford which he bought through a friend at the Los Angeles Stockyards from a ranch in northern California.

"She is a real range cow," Garrett said. "I romp with her sometimes and she is rough and wild. She is a true midget, perfectly shaped but undersized. They are the result of intensive breeding for short legs. They occur once in 5,000 births."

The little one is 28 inches at the shoulder and weighs 205 pounds. She is two years old.

A normal two-year-old Hereford heifer weighs from 850 to 900 pounds.

Week's Wall Street Trend

By NEWTON D. ZINDER

With E. F. Hutton & Co.

Plowing through heavy resistance and often slowed to a standstill by persistent profit taking, the market nevertheless pushed further ahead Thursday in very active trading. The momentum built up in the final minutes of Wednesday's session resulted in a rather robust opening. With first-hour volume helped by a record trade in Sperry Rand and soaring above the 4-million-share mark, the Dow-Jones industrial average found itself above the widely watched 900 level at the end of the initial 60 minutes.

From then on it was a struggle to remain above that level as the bulls and bears seem to be engaged in a massive tug of war. The outcome was only settled in the final hour as a new burst of strength allowed the Dow-Jones industrial average to close above the 900 mark for the first time since June 22, 1966.

* * * *

WHILE clearly in plus territory, the market was not nearly as strong as the relatively large gain in the Dow Jones industrial average would seem to indicate. For the second straight day, the blue chip index was helped by a big jump in Du Pont. The more broadly based Standard & Poor's and New York Stock Exchange industrial indices, both of which closed at new all-time highs, scored smaller percentage gains than their Dow-Jones counterpart. Also, for the second day in a row, the margin of individual gainers over losers was relatively small, indicating that an increasing number of issues are now failing to participate in the apparent market strength.

The Dow-Jones rail average scored its first gain of the week but even there the gain, though still much smaller on a percentage basis than the industrials, was somewhat illusory. The entire rise in the rail index was accounted for by just one component issue, Illinois Central industries. Actually, among the component rails in the Dow-Jones rail average, there were more minus signs than plus signs. The airlines, which often top out ahead of the market, displayed some scattered strength

By R. W. BULLOCK

With Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis

During the past two weeks, the market as measured by the Dow Jones industrials has risen substantially above the previous rally high reached in late March. Moreover, the strength has been accompanied by rising volume. Thursday's 12.8 million shares was the eighth highest on record, while the last March-mid-April easing, in anticipation of mixed first-quarter earnings, was made on declining volume.

Particularly encouraging to many technicians was the close Thursday above the 900 level in the DJI which some thought might prove to be a psychological barrier.

The Dow Jones Industrial average is a good measure of market movement, particularly of the largest companies in our more basic industries; in fact, many of them form the backbone of our economy. However, while the 30-stock average has good representation in such groups as the autos, steels and chemicals, there is small or no representation in some more rapidly growing areas of our economy, such as electronics and office equipment, airlines and textbook publishers. It might be noted, too, that the former industires are the ones which are experiencing substantial declines in their earnings while the latter have been turning in excellent gains in profits.

A MORE comprehensive, and at this time more meaningful, mesaurement of the market is Standard & Poor's 425 Industrial Index. This index Thursday closed at a new all-time high, about 1 per cent above last year's Feb. 9 peak. This new high contrasts with the Dow Jones industrials which are still about 10 per cent below their February 1966. In short, the comments on how far the "recovery" in the Dow map go aren't very meaningful when a broad index such as S&P's is in new high ground.

The major reason for the continued advance in that market is increasing optimism on the outlook for the economy. Many economists are heartened by the continued growth in the economy in the first quarter despite a number of adjustments. New factory offers, a leading business indicator, rose slightly again in March for the second month in a row. This contrasted with a decline of over 5 per cent in January. New car sales—one of the real depressants in the economy in recent months — are picking up. In the first quarter of the year car sales dropped sharply — over 21 per cent. Last month, sales of U.S. made cars were down 3.4 per cent and for this month industry representatives estimate that sales will climb above the comparatively slow May of a year ago. With money easier, optimism also is growing that the huge building industry will move up in the months ahead. Probably two of the most bullish indications in the economy are that personal income continues to climb and unemployment has not risen despite the adjustments in many industries.

IN VIEW OF the increasing optimism toward the economic outlook, not only later his year, but also in 1968, we continue to feel that the line of least resistance in the market is upward. Nevertheless, a word of caution is needed at this time. Increasing interest has been noted in recent weeks in low-priced high speculative securities. In addition, many good quality stocks with outstanding records have been bid up to 30, 40 and even 50 times estimated earnings. At these levels they have substantial risks with their high price-earnings ratios, and while they are attractive for very long-term investment they do have considerable intermediate-term market risk if sentiment should change. We feel many good values are still available but strongly suggest investors not lose sight of their long-term objectives and the risks they are really able to assume.

SO STATE IS TAKING 'EDUCATIONAL' STEP

LSD Arrests Admittedly Stopgap

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The policeman, the parent and the teen-ager's mind are the three main approaches to California's rapidly rising juvenile narcotics problem.

It's swamping the police.

Parents have to be convinced.

And the big state effort to get to the teen-ager the full story on marijuana and LSD is yet to roll off the press — now set for mid-May.

Arrests of juveniles — up 140 per cent for marijuana alone — exceeded 5,000 in California last year. The way it's going, the State Bureau of Criminal Statistics figures that by 1971 the total will be between 15,000 and 22,000 a year.

Last in a Series

Arrest is admittedly a stop gap solution. Already it is overtaxing many law enforcement agencies. Orange County, with 1.3 million residents, has only 12 narcotics officers.

"We're not even holding our own," laments Sgt. Robert Reed, of the county sheriff's narcotics detail. "The problem is getting ahead of us."

Enforcement problems form a spider web.

"We're retreating from a firm attitude on marijuana and giving users too many breaks," insists Matthew M. O'Connor, head of Northern California's division of the State Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement.

* * * *

"WE NEED a more solid approach from the courts," contends Santa Barbara County's Sheriff James Webster. "Too many of the offenders are getting off too easily."

Detection, particularly of odorless, colorless LSD, is a thorny job. Only recently did Southern California's state narcotics division get a $9,000 analytical unit.

More important to solving the crisis than who got and used the stuff is where he got it.

"That old image of a pusher lurking around the school just isn't true," points out Sgt. Eugene Zappey, who heads the 16-man narcotic unit in the juvenile division of the Los Angeles Police Department.

"The schools are very much aware of the problem and they police their areas very well. But the kids get it elsewhere and induce others to try it."

Agreeing, Santa Cruz Police Chief Geno Pini says:

"They get the stuff from other users and eventually all users are sellers.

"A high school group inclined this way will, through association with a little older group, start using this and will then get their supply. The little older group moves up the line to the older, as the college age. This group is traveling widely through the state and into Mexico," chief source of marijuana.

Imperial County's new sheriff, Raymond B. Rowe, has clamped a ban on unaccompanied minors crossing the border into Mexico.

The state is making its biggest effort to reach the teen-age mind on the problem. About May 15, the State Department of Education expects to roll off the presses 50,000 copies of a carefully compiled source book on drug abuse for teachers and parent-teacher associations.

The guide of more than 120 pages will be rushed to schools throughout the state in hopes of getting the informative program going before summer vacation.

* * * *

THE guide was compiled by Patricia J. Hill, department consultant in school health education, and Angela Kitzinger, professor of health education at San Deigo State College. More than a score of authorities put together the material.

Dr. Max Raffery, state superintendent of public instruction, in the guide's foreword urges schools to use it "as a basis for developing an instructional program that is designed to inform all pupils regarding the dangers that result from improper use of drugs."

There is one sensitive point in the educational approach. That's how to put it over without unduly arousing curiosity.

Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Young of Fresno County notes that no sooner did a magazine article come out saying nutmeg gave some of the effects of LSD than four persons were arrested — for nutmeg sniffing.

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

The driver education department of California State College, Long Beach, has received three new Plymouth Fury automobiles from Ray Vines Chrysler-Plymouth for use in instructing student drivers through the school year. Many students receive their teaching credentials to teach driver education at various high schools.

The cars are among the more than 7,500 fully-equipped automobiles supplied by Chrysler Motors Corp. dealers, at no cost, to more tahn 4,000 high schools throughout the country.

Vines, owner of the Chrysler-Plymouth agency, calls participation in the school's driver education program "one of the best investments ever made in highway safety."

The new Plymouths are fully equipped with all standard safety features.

"WOMAN AT THE WHEEL" — For you gals that drive a car without a man around the house — or even with, if you want to show him up a little — there's a new paperback book you should not be without.

Wirtten by Julie Candler, said to be the foremost authority on women drivers, the book, "Woman at the Wheel," explains just about everything a woman should know about buying, driving and maintaining a new or used automobile.

Available at most supermarkets, the book sells for 75 cents and contains over 30 chapters of expert information that will help the feminine set become safer, more confident drivers.

No why don't all of you nice gals go out and buy a copy of "Woman at the Wheel" as a gesture to us men drivers? I'm kidding . . . I think.

Minor Surgery for Eddie Fisher

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Eddie Fisher will postpone a Pittsburgh engagement next week because of minor oral surgery, a spokesman said Friday. Fisher will undergo the surgery on Sunday and will be unable to sing for several days.

Fisher was scheduled to open with comedian Buddy Hackett Monday night at Pittsburgh's Penn Theater. Instead, the spokesman said, the show will open Friday.

IT'S SPRING!

Lionel R. Alves, 30, Ventura College instructor, takes advantage of the school's liberal new code of attire. "You mean this is news" he asked the photographer.

Anita is a Spanish-speaking little girl in the New York of today, brand new to an English-speaking city inadvertently separated from her mother on a shopping tour. Anita and Mother have the kind of hide-and-seek pursuit of one another that could happen to any child who dropped her mother's hand in a crowd. But Anita remembers what Father and Mother taught her for just such an emergency, and the young listener learns an important lesson in a delightful adventure story. Ages 3 to 7.

Damascus Favored in Run for Roses Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Churchill Downs, bristling like an armed camp because of threatened open housing demonstrations, stages the 93rd running of the $162,200 Kentucky Derby today.

A field of 14 horses will run in America's turf classic under tight security. Five demonstrators risked their lives by dashing in front of the horses in Tuesday's first race, and since then city policemen have lined up on the track along the rail and faced the stands to prevent anyone else from trying it. All five were arrested and there were no further incidents.

For the Kentucky Derby, however, at least 1,000 national guardsmen, state troopers and county and city policemen will be on hand to prevent the demonstrators from fulfilling their threat of "No Housing; No Derby."

Damascus, impressive winner of the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct two weeks ago, rules the favorite at odds of 2-1 to beat his 13 rivals in the 1¼ mile classic which already had lost some of its color.

Also ready to run in the first of the Triple Crown classics are: Ruken, Successor, Diplomat Way, Reason To Hail, Barbs Delight, Proud Clarion, Dawn Glory, Gentleman James, Lightning Orphan, Ask The Fare, Dr. Isby, Field Master and Second Encounter.

Usually about 100,000 persons jam Churchill Downs and no one has asked for a refund on reserved seats, according to president Wathen R. Knebelkamp. But what effect the threatened demonstrations had on those who jam the infield each year remained problematical as did the kind of action, if any, the demonstrators planned.

Rumors flew that they were going to block the streets leading to the track, block the entrance, lay down on the track, form a human chain across the finish line, or throw firecrackers onto the track to frighten the horses.

A threatened demonstration Friday evening failed to materialize.

Owners and trainers, who were busy preparing the horses all week long, now had time to wonder if their efforts would be ruined by disorders.

Willie Shoemaker rides Damascus, the pride of the East who has won six of eight races. It marked the 16th consecutive Derby ride for Shoemaker, who won the rose run in 1955 with Swaps, in 1959 with Tomy Lee and in 1965 with Lucky Debonair. Eddie Arcaro holds the Derby riding record with 21 appearances and in winners with five.

SPRING CROWN UP FOR GRABS

By JIM McCORMACK

Today's $30,000 Los Alamitos Spring Championship is special for Duplicate Copy and Joe Sherry.

For the first time in three years they won't be looking at the wrong end of Go Josie Go at race's finish.

After a fantastic string of four consecutive championships at Los Alamitos, the amazing daughter of Go Man Go has hung up her blanket.

Unfortunately for Joe Sherry and Duplicate Copy, however, senority does not guarantee a championship.

Although Joe and Duplicate are the only lettermen in the field, it is nonetheless outstanding.

Six of the 10 entrants are impressive, three-year-olds, including Toy Spur, big money winner of the $42,700 Los Alamitos Derby April 15. The other youngsters, all Derby entrants, are Sompin Special, Go Al Go, Watch Eli, Lano

Troy Whippets Tabbed in Title Tussle Today

By JOHN DIXON

UCLA is reigning national champion, hasn't lost a meet since a shave and a haircut were six bits, and drubbed USC last year, 86-59.

But the Trojans are going to beat the Bruins today. The score: USC 79, UCLA 66.

Their track and field fracas to determine the national dual meet championship will commence at 1:15 p.m. in the Coliseum. They're off to the races at 1:45 p.m.

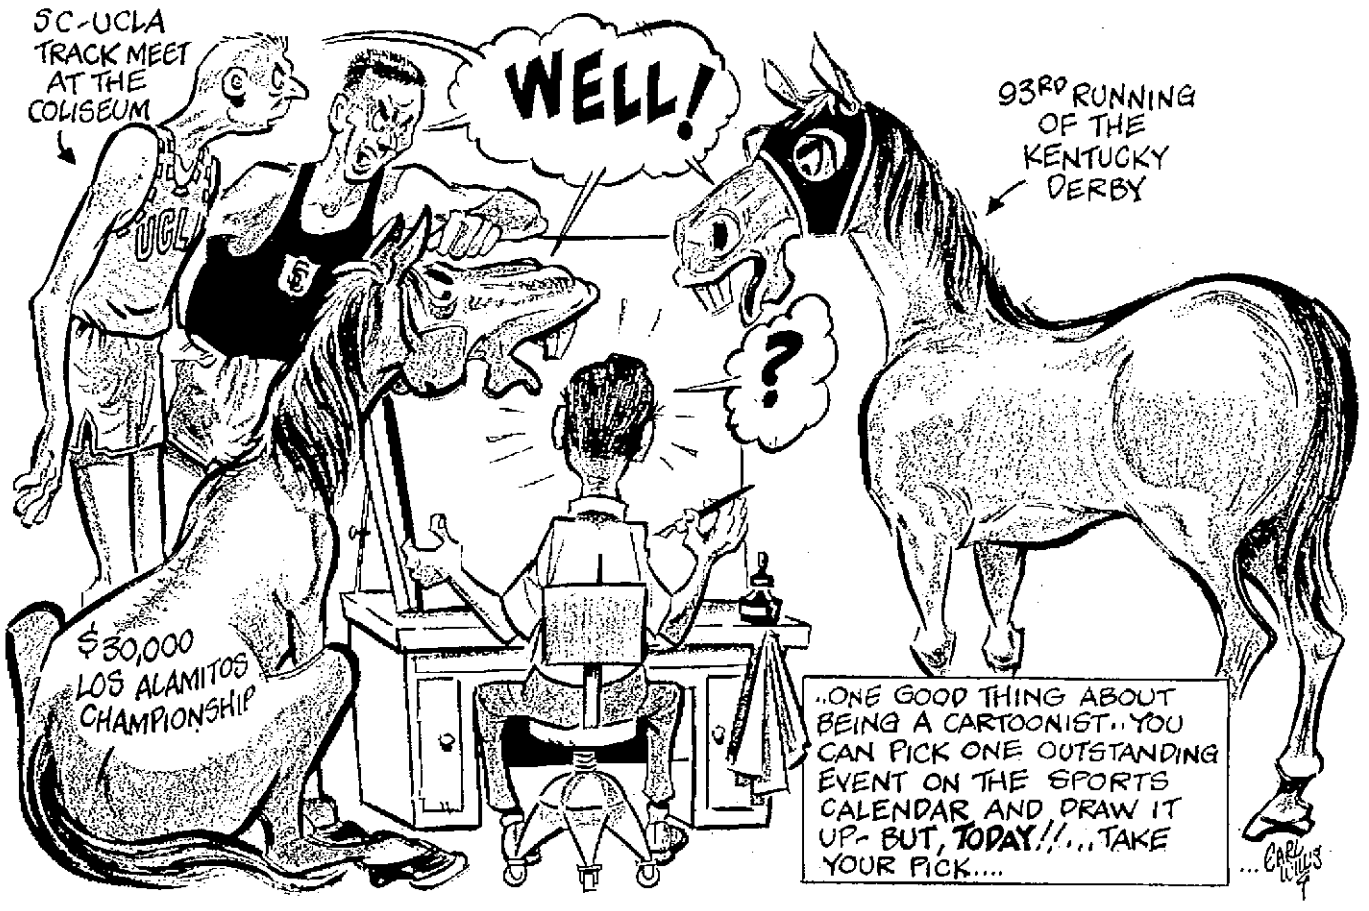

Although the computer presents the Trojans a definite edge, almost every winner will be huffing through the tape. The swifties appear so even that a six-inch margin will be a big one.

Give UCLA's sprint star, Harold Busby, an inch and he might win the 100, 220 and 440-yard relay. If he does, revise that predicted score: UCLA 76, USC 69.

Earl McCullouch, the well-rounded fellow from Poly High and Long Beach City College, could win it for the Trojans almost all by himself.

McCullouch (25-2¼) will be favored in the long jump, favored (40.0) in the 440 relay, a longshot in the 220 (21.4), and a co-favorite in the high hurdles (13.7).

Athletes from both track and field institutions admit that they've been thinking of nothing else all year. The national collegiate championship is secondary. After all, either team could whip Russia, even with Tamara Press.

Brewer Looks Good—but Dodgers Don't

By GEORGE LEDERER
Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA — Jim Brewer's arm isn't stretched out yet, but the Dodgers are within a fingertip of the biggest stretch in National League history.

The champions of 1966 escaped the basement Friday night only because doormats Houston and New York had exclusive rights to the positon by playing each other. The Dodgers settled into ninth place by losing to the Phillies, 3-1, and wasted their best pitched game on the road this season. It was the Dodgers' third consecutive defeat, their sixth in the last seven games and also their sixth in seven games on the road.

Brewer, who hadn't started a game since Sept. 4, 1965, pitched well enough to start another one at Houston next week, perhaps even 20 more.

Brewer was hoping for six strong innings and had to settle for five. He only allowed three hits, but was charged with two runs and his first loss.

"Nobody likes to lose," said Brewer between pats on the back from his teammates, "but I'm happy. I'm happy that my arm feels so good. That's as hard as I've thrown in my life.

"Maybe next time I can go six or seven innings. My arm just wasn't stretched out enough to make it this time. It started to get tight in the fifth inning and I tried to get too much on the ball. It just wasn't there."

Walter Alston said, "I've got to find another spot to start Brewer, but it can't be against a righthanded hitting club. It'll probably be in Houston."

Brewer, who begged the front office to "let me show what I can do," showed the Phillies something, too. He didn't allow a hit until rookie Gary Sutherland led off the fourth inning with a single.

Sutherland, a 22-year-old former USC star from Glendale, also brought about Brewer's dismissal when he doubled to start the sixth inning.

Phil Regan took over with the score 1-1, walked Richie Allen and wild pitched the runners to second and third. With first base open, pinch-hitter Johnny Briggs drew an intentional walk and Conkie Rojas broke the tie with a sacrifice fly.

It was the only out for Regan, who also walked Jonny Callison intentionally, then handed the ball to Tony Gonzales and got Clay Dalrymple to ground out with the bases full.

Pascual Survives Sore Arm; Now He's a Pain in the Neck

By ROSS NEWHAN

A sore arm prevented Camilo Pascual from coming to the Angels last December. In Anaheim Friday night, the Angels found him more of a pain in the neck.

Rejected in the initial offer which eventually brought Don Mincher, Jimmie Hall and Pete Cimino from the Twins, Pascual pitched Washington to a 4-1 victory before 13,131 fans.

The 34-year-old righthander allowed only four singles, employing the skills which accounted for 100 wins between 1959 and '64.

Rationed to one-a-day brand, the Angels scored only in the second on a walk and singles by Buck Rodgers and Bobby Knoop. Pascual then retired 12 in a row before Jay Johnstone legged out an infield hit in the sixth.

The final 10 Angels succumbed as Pascual lifted his career record against the Rigneys to 11-5, including six in California.

There is, in fact, no longer a welcome mat out for the Senators, the former doormats. They are now one game over .500, their pitchers have permitted only three runs in the last 46 innings, and they have won 34 of the last 47 engagements with the Angels.

Ken Harrelson, baseball's best golfer, teed off for a home run and run-producing single while Paul Cassanova took the heart out of George Brunet when his home run tied the score in the fifth.

Brunet may try a fifth as toxin for his snake bite. After taming the Tigers on opening night, the frustrated southpaw has lost four in a row while supported by only six runs.

Brunet left two games losing, 3-1 and 2-1; departed one leading, 3-2, in the ninth, and was removed from yet another tied, 1-1, in the 10th. He lost all four.

Casanova's homer put the Senators on even terms in the fifth and Brunet lost it in the sixth when Rick Reichardt played Tim Cullen's leadoff fly into a single, stimulating a rally which should never have been.

Reichardt moved back on Cullen's shallow shot and failed to recover. A walk and fielder's choice left runners at first and third with two outs, and ensuing singles by Cap Peterson and Harrelson promoted a 3-1 lead.

Harrelson homered in the ninth off Bill Kelso for needless insurance.

Camilo Alberto Pascual Jr. was 6-1 for the Twins on May 16 of his 12th season. Soreness then enveloped his arm and in mid-season a small, benign tumor was removed from his shoulder. He returned to pitch, finishing with an 8-6 record.

When the Angels instigated trade talks involving Dean Chance, they were attracted by the Twins' excess of power. At the winter meetings, Minnesota offered Hall, Mincher and Pascual.

"We were scared of Pascual's arm," admitted vice-president Marvin Milkes. "We flatly turned it down. The trade was dead until Minnesota substituted Cimino for Pascual."

Cimino came West and Camilo went East. Pascual and Bernie Allen were traded to Washington for Ron Kline, and now the veteran flinger has won two in a row.

"I was glad to leave the Twins," said Pascual. "They wouldn't pitch me. I would have liked it in Anaheim, the weather is nice."

The weather and Angel bats are a lot alike. Real cool.

VALLEY TAKES ADVANTAGE OF VIKING GOOFS

Hooten's Pitching Gem Foiled in 12th

By GARY RAUSCH

Leon Hooten threw a four-hitter Friday, struck out 14, walked only two and lost as visiting Valley College beat Long Beach City in 12 innings, 3-2.

Three mental mistakes cost Hooten his seventh victory and tagged him with his first defeat. Hoot set the Monarchs down in order in 10 of 12 frames, facing only 41 batters—5 over the limit.

Mistake No 1 ended Leon's no-hitter in the fifth. A checked swing by John Landtiser produced a nubber up the first base line. Hooten neglected to field the roller at the 45-foot mark and the ball continued another 40 feet dying inches from the chalkline.

With two down and two strikes on Rocky Raffa, catcher Ron Henkel called for a fastball and the chunky third baseman drilled it to center, scoring Landtiser. Leon wild pitched Raffa along and Dennis Honaker scored him with a single up the middle.

The Vikes had taken a 2-0 lead in the third on singles by Doug Stodgel and Rod O'Brien and Dennis Park's two-run liner to right.

With Parks on third and Walt Weller on first and one gone in the sixth, Steve Smith squeezed toward first. But Parks hesitated his break and was thrown out at the plate by a wide margin.

Held hitless for six frames, Valley got its fourth and final safety in the 12th—and it decided the contest. Bob Fusano walked and stole second and, after Don Epstein fanned for the second out, Landtiser looped a run-scoring single to left.

Dodgers Bid for Cellar

as ever," said Alston, "and Egan did a great job."

Ron Perranoski, working in the Dodgers' sixth consecutive game, yielded the final run in the eighth when he walked Rojas after two were out and Callison doubled.

Jim Bunning (2-3) was a wild winner and the Dodgers had numerous chances to drive him out. But it took a blister on his pitching hand to get him out and Chris Short picked up a save by pitching the ninth.

Bunning walked eight — John Roseboro three times intentionally — and allowed six of the Dodgers' seven hits. But he was tough with men on base and the Dodgers left 13.

"That's our biggest trouble," moaned Alston. "We hit better than they did, but we can't seem to hit when it counts."

Al Ferrara left six men on base, five in scoring position. Gene Michael struck out twice and hit into a double play with seven chances to advance runners.

The Dodger run was an outright gift. Ron Fairly walked to start the second inning and scored on Bunning's wild pitch after the first of three hits by Jim Lefebvre.

Claude Osteen (3-1) pitches against Larry Jackson (2-1) tonight.

Third baseman Richie Allen began his career as a shortstop and second baseman Cookie Rojas, the Phillies' crackerjack utility man, still fills in at short . . . The Phillies' makeshift lineup was dictated by the absence of Bill White, Dick Groat and Tony Taylor . . . Groat, the regular shortstop, has cellulitis, an infection of the tissue, in his right ankle . . . Groat has been hospitalized the past two weeks and will miss at least another week of action . . . White, although he has pinch-hit twice, probably won't start for another month while he recovers from a torn achilles tendon . . . Taylor has the flu.

Sutherland has eight hits in his last 12 times up and is batting .400 . . . "I had to start fast here," he said. "The cut-down date is just around the corner (midnight May 10)." . . . Sutherland's only previous experience in the outfield was as a senior in high school . . . He played two innings at the end of an exhibition game this spring and has been there since . . . Callison's single drove in the first Phil run after Sutherland singled and Allen walked in the fourth . . . The Dodgers stole three bases in a game for the first time this season, Willie Davis getting two and Lefebvre the other . . . Lefebvre doubled to start the sixth, but was unable to advance . . . Alston thought Lefebvre should have tagged up and made third as Ferrara flied deep to Callison.

Akaine First in Ensenada Race

ENSENADA, Mexico, (AP) — Ken Murphy's 46-foot catamaran Akaine from the Waikiki, Hawaii, Yacht Club was the first boat to finish Friday in the Newport to Esnenada yacht race.

A fleet of more than 500 boats of varying descriptions sailed into Ensenada, with the Akaine's elapsed time of 15 hours, 12 minutes best in the field.

First single-hull yacht to finish the 125-mile race was Jack Baillie's Newsboy, a 12-meter sloop from the Balboa Yacht Club.

CHAMPIONSHIP RACE AT ALAMITOS TODAY

Hancock and Truly A Lady.

Old timers Lumpjaw and Counterplay round out the field.

Duplicate Copy might be the people's choice, strictly on experience, although he has raced only twice in the last 10 months and won only once.

In fact, in a tuneup last week, Duplicate Copy was caught going the other way when the gate opened and was lucky to finish second to Truly A Lady in the $6,000 Chicado V.

Actually, the three-year-olds in the race have the better credentials.

Sompin Special has been out of the money only twice in 20 lifetime starts. Lano Hancock has won twice at Alamitos and has six wins in eight races this season.

Watch Eli had the fastest qualifying time during the Derby Trials and Go Al Go was the prerace favorite.

Joe Sherry's most notable achievement is five starts, without success, in Los Alamitos championships.

Grand Deck and Romansandal Hilo accounted for the fifth winning deadheat at Alamitos Friday when they matched noses at the finish of the featured $1,800 Seal Beach Purse.

The two sprinters ran side-by-side throughout the race, Grand Deck taking a head lead at the start but never holding any more of an advantage.

Grand Deck paid $10.20, $8.40 and $4.80, Romansandal Hilo $12.80, $8.40 and $5.20.

Grand Slam Beats Saints

Notre Dame's Craig Mills gave up eight hits and five earned runs to St. Anthony Friday, but his grand slam homer in the fourth inning was enough to boost the Knights to an 8-5 Catholic League baseball victory.

St. Anthony touched Mills for all five runs in the fifth on four singles, a double, balk and one walk.

St. Anthony lodged a protest on the game due to an interference infraction that was called when two runs scored in the final inning.

Amoros Rejoins Dodgers

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

O'Malley Shows Heart to Ex-Star

PHILADELPHIA — Sandy is coming back to the Dodgers for one week. He'll be in uniform, but he won't pitch.

This is a Sandy from another era. He is Edmundo Isasi (Sandy) Amoros, an outfielder who made headlines with a spectacular catch in the seventh game of the 1955 World Series.

Amoros was one of the original Coliseum Dodgers in 1958, was traded to Detroit and dropped out of baseball a year later. He returned to his native Cuba, and, after five years of trying, escaped the Castro regime and fled to the U.S. Thursday.

Amoros is a lefthanded hitter and the Dodgers need one desperately but Amoros also is 37, hasn't seen a major league pitch in seven years and probably won't see one now.

The Dodgers signed him out of heart alone. Amoros needs seven days of major league service to complete the five years necessary to qualify for the pension plan. At age 50, he will collect $250 per month.

Amoros arrived in New York Thursday penniless. He lost a $40,000 farm and all his possessions in Cuba.

To make room for Amoros, who is scheduled to report tonight, the Dodgers will place Lou Johnson on the disabled list. Johnson has a fractured ankle and will be sidelined at least two months more.

Moore, Catholic Spike Meets, CIF Swim Finals Today

High school swimmers wrap-up their season with the CIF finals today while prep tracksters begin the long grind with the staging of the Moore and Catholic League championships.

The swimmers compete at UC Irvine, beginning at 1 p.m., and Corona del Mar figures to hold off assorted threats from Arcadia, Burbank and Wilson for the team crown.

John Kiddie and Jeff Losch of Wilson, Jim Norse of Downey and Steve Genter of Lakewood carry the Moore League banner into varsity competition.

Lakewood hosts the Moore League track finals, also beginning at 1 p.m., and the best events should be the mile and two-mile. The latter could easily produce a league record.

Mark Suttle of Wilson (9:20.4), Pat Fagan of Jordan (9:23.0) and Rick Dyer of Lakewood (9:26.0) rank among the top half dozen in the CIF.

St. Anthony, which has just concluded its best dual meet season in five years, hosts the Catholic League finals at Saint Field and has qualifiers in all events.

That includes the two Gregs, Schilling and Schneeweis. Schilling will run in the 100, 220 and an 880 relay leg and Schneeweis could win the high hurdles, low hurdles and long jump.

Back at the Moore League meet, a fine battle looms in the mile between Wilson's Dennis Campbell (4:24.0) and Lakewood's Dave Gillman (4:26.0).

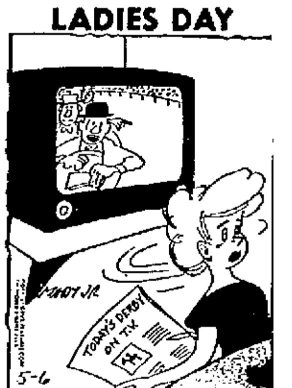

The 220 also could bring an exciting rematch between Lakewood's Dale Didur and Jordan's fine junior, Andy Young.

The Jones boys of Poly, high jumper Jay (6-foot-7) and half-miler Greg (1:55.6) are the class of their events.

FANFARE

LADIES DAY

"There they come!"

Metro's Spikefest Tonight

By GARY RAUSCH

One record has already fallen and at least a half dozen others will be threatened during tonight's Metropolitan Conference track finals at Cerritos College.

Field events begin at 6:30 with the 440 relay kicking off the races one hour later.

Long Beach City, Valley, Bakersfield and surprising East L.A. figure to wage the stiffest battle for the crown. Valley and LBCC can score points in all but one event.

Much of the Viking success will depend on the performances of its two all-season athletes, Tom Massey and Dale Millette.

Massey, all-Metro in football and a two-year Frosh basketball forward, is entered in the high hurdles, triple and high jumps while Millette, ninth in the state cross country finals and a member of LBCC's Metro champion cage squad, is a mile and 2-mile entry.

Massey equalled his season best of 15.1 to make the hurdle field in Wednesday's prelims. He's also gone 47-9¾ in the triple and 6-7 in the high jump. He'll be fighting a painful bruise on his right heel in order to compete.

Millette loafed through a 4:20.6 trial and seems ready to lower his career best of 4:17.3 and possibly smash Bob Goodson's 4:11.2 school record.

McKAY RECRUITS 37
3 L.B. Grids Intent on Playing at UCLA

USC reaped the biggest football bonanza, but UCLA landed three prize Long Beach gridders Friday as letters of intent were officially filed with the Pacific Eight office.

Coach John McKay lured no less than 37 prep or jaycee players, including four from Long Beach — St. Anthony backs John Merino and Bob Olszewski, LBCC end Terry DeKraai and Lakewood quarterback Ron Ayala.

In addition, USC signed Mater Dei's top four players, backs Jim and Mike Morgan, end Bruce Rollingson and tackle Steve Pultorak.

Also ticketed for Figueroa campus are Brodie Dunn, Cerritos guard; Wayne Yary, Bellflower fullback; and Brad Fielder, El Rancho guard. Both Fielder and Yary have older brothers playing at USC.

UCLA's football crop was only half that of USC's, but among them were Lakewood halfback Larry Crutchfield, Wilson quarterback Bob Grich and Bruin tackle Paul Trafas.

Dale Nosworthy, Wilson's all-CIF end, signed a letter at Oregon State; and Gil Powell, a former Bruin end star, will enroll at Cal.

Wilson's swimming standouts, John Kiddie and Jeff Losch, are bound for USC.

Other lists of intent letters will be released in the next few months. Long Beach and area signees:

49ers Bid for Title in Track

A tug of war usually has only two ends, but today's track tussle for the CCAA championship matches three teams.

With Cal State Long Beach, Cal State Los Angeles and Fresno State, obviously it's for the "state" title as well.

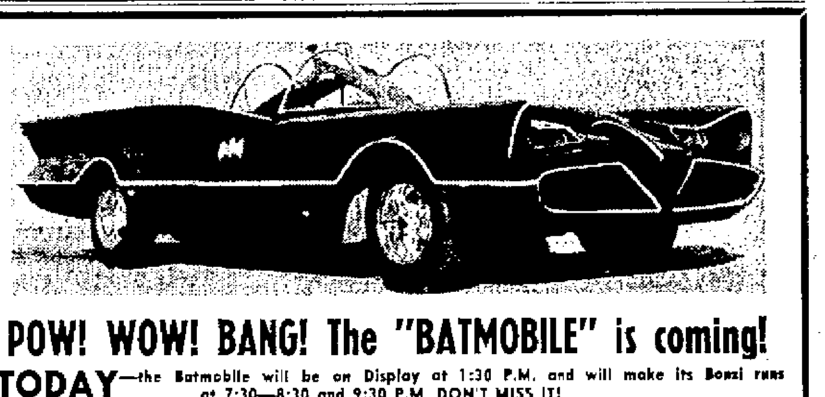

Action will commence at 4:15 p.m. on the Los Angeles race strip.

Cal State L.A. is favored, but Long Beach has met stiffer opposition. Favorites from the 49ers are Dan Morales, 1:53.3 half-miler, and Jim Hannefield, 57 fee, 7½ inch shotputter.

Cerritos, Dons in Big Wins

Rod Corder pitched Cerritos to within one game of clinching the Metropolitan Conference title with a 4-2 four-hitter over Rio Hondo Friday. Corder notched eight strikeouts as the Falcons improved their mark to 15-4.

Second-place El Camino hung on with a 7-5 win over East L.A. (1-19) in 10 innings. A triple by Skip Effler in the 10th drove in the Warriors' winning run. El Camino is now 14-5 in the Metro.

The Eastern Conference race was thrown into a deadlock as Orange Coast lost its third straight game, 5-2, to the Santa Ana Dons.

Four league track marks were either broken or tied Friday during Coast League track finals.

Nathaniel Spann from Centennial ran off with most of the glory, tying the 100-yard dash mark of 9.7 set in 1965, and breaking the 220 with a time of 21.7.

Wynn Out for Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Houston Astros announced Friday that outfielder Jim Wynn will be lost to the club for a week to 10 days with a shoulder separation. Wynn and Rookie pitcher Don Wilson were injured in Thursday night's game at Philadelphia.

Cub Nine Blanked by Simon

Steve Simon preserved Piux X's share of the lead in the Catholic League by blanking Loyola, 5-0, Friday.

The Warriors, tied with Notre Dame for first place, waited until the fifth inning to do all their scoring as they bunched four hits to score all five of their runs.

In the fifth, Warriors' John Tereschuk singled, Larry Diehl followed with another single, and Phil Meyer knocked both baserunners in with a double to left center.

Don Sonsma followed with a walk to set up the crushing blow, a three-run homer by Rick Cash that climaxed the scoring.

Simon fanned 11 and walked three on way to his two-hit shutout.

In other Southland action, El Rnacho advanced into first place in the Pacific League by stopping Arcadia, 2-0, behind pitcher Rick Pope.

Pope, an all-CIF football quarterback, struck out 14 to raise his record for the year to 5-0.

The Dons' Randy Drake and teammate Guy Pico cracked a four-bagger in the fourth to give El Rancho and Pope the win.

El Rancho is now 7-3 in league play.

Neff pushed the Wildcats of Wilson deeper into the Hacienda League celler by scoring a 3-2 victory Friday.

Wilson was allowed only one hit by Mike Norred, until two out in the seventh. Then he walked two and Bill MacCuddin drove in both runners with a single.

Neff rallied in the bottom of the seventh to pull the game out. The Trojans loaded the bases on three hits and then were given the two runs on a hit batter and a walk.

Triton Rally in Seventh Halts Oilers

San Clemente stopped Huntington Beach's six-game winning streak Friday by downing the Oilers, 2-1, to move two games out in front in the Irvine League.

The Tritons rallied in the bottom of the seventh to score the winning run. A base hit, a hit batter, an intentional walk and a wild pitch pushed across the deciding tally.

Mike Bailey of Huntington Beach smashed a homer in the second to give the Oilers a temporary lead.

The Tritons are now 10-1 in league play.

Other Irvine action Friday saw Newport Harbor squeeze by Corona del Mar, 4-3, to pull within a game of Huntington Beach.

The Tars racked up two runs in the seventh to pull the game out. The final tally came after two consecutive throwing errors by the Sea Kings' infield.

Bolsa Grande kept pace with league-leading Pacifica by beating Santiago, 6-2, in Garden Grove City League play.

The Matadors, a game and a half out of first, scored five runs in the final two innings to hand Santiago its eighth loss of the season.

Pioneer in Romp

Pioneer proved why it is undefeated in Suburban League action Friday by "tripling" to a convincing 17-1 victory over third-place Monte Vista.

Four men in the Titans' lineup tripled and drove in a total of 12 runs between them. Ed Ames and Henry Rocha had four RBI's; Doug Redigan had three and Dennis Saunders knocked home one.

Saunders not only helped at the plate, but he fired a two-hitter on the mound while going the seven-inning distance.

Also contributing to the field day for Pioneer at the plate was Larry Crawford, who scored four runs, had four safeties in four trips and drove in two runs.

Mayfair dropped two and one half games behind the league-leaders by dropping a decision to Sierra, 4-0.

The Spartans were led by Miles Easton, who shut out the Monsoons on five hits, and Mike Gullotti, who drove in two runs with a double.

In other action, La Serna and Glenn fought to an eight-inning thriller, won by the Lancers, 1-0.

Tom Felix scampered for a triple after hitting a blast to left-centerfield and John Zoskey lined a single up the middle to score Felix.

In the bottom of the inning, reliever Tom Essig mowed down the Eagles' batters to end the game.

Clark Scuttles Fired-Up Bucs

Ron Clark came out of the bullpen in the second inning to shut the door on Bellflower as Santa Fe edged the Buccaneers, 5-3, in the San Gabriel Valley League headliner Friday.

Clark was needed when the losers jumped on starter Rudy Golphene for three runs in the first inning.

The reliever gave up just two more hits in the six innings he worked and held the Bucs scoreless. Catcher Wally Simmons starred at the plate for the winners as he went for three-for-four and drove in one run.

The Chiefs are now 10-2 in league play and firmly entrenched in first place by two games.

The La Mirada Lancers kept pace with the loop leaders as they turned back California High, 5-3, behind the heavy hitting of Dan Waring and Frank Reyes. The Lancers now stand at 8-4, good for second place in the league.

We hope that you'll pick US. Lots of your neighbors HAVE.

'56 PLYMOUTH 4-Dr.; V-8 ... GOOD ONE. Radio, heater, automatic shift; let'sa tires; green, with ivory top. Fine work, or fast run-about car. XHT 157. $299

'61 T-BIRD COUPE. Now, we don't generally keep too many of these, but this one seems to be exceptionally good, and we can sell it reasonably. It's blue, with ivory interior, electric windows, etc. MOR 973 $1099

'63 MERCURY S-55 4-Dr. HARDTOP. They're kind'a swanky model, and it's really in fine shape. We have paid bills to support claim of nearly $600 in major and other mechanical repair. Radio, heater, steering; stereo tape, power rear window. A fine buy. RAE 633 $1499

'64 VW DELUXE 2-Dr. Now, the requests from almost every VW dealer in the area to buy this little critter would indicate they're scarcer'n hen's teeth. Still our price is reasonable; has radio, and it's a little "off apple-green". RQH-317. $1649

'65 CHEVROLET IMPALA SUPER SPORT CPE. Very nicely kept; mileage is reasonable, it's kind'a metallic powder blue; has Landau top, factory air, I'll bet you ... This thing is NICE! Tires are modern tread and high! You come on in. NHT-866. $2349

'66 DODGE CORONET 500 SPORT CPE. Now, you just can't hardly find this kind around at this price right now. The market is really HIGHER. It's a beautiful 8,000 mile car, done in beige. One of our most popular models. Come on, we'll show you. SJX 169 $2849

Tele-Vues by TERRY VERNON

Shirley Booth, who won an Emmy nomination for "The Glass Menagerie," already has her share of honors. She has an Oscar for "Come Back, Little Sheba," two Emmies and three Broadway Tonys.

In her 40-year career in the theater, she has achieved a measure of leisure, however, not from works which won her the plaudits of the Broadway critics, but for her five years as TV's Hazel.

"I'm very grateful to Hazel," she said. "I enjoyed playing her, and I didn't think it was a demeaning role, as some of my friends did. I never thought of her as a servant to that family; I always considered her a close friend. And that's the way I played her."

"Hazel" began the rerun circuit two years ago, and since then she's been taking it comparatively easy.

"I'm always busy with my four homes. I have my place on Cape Cod, where I spend the summer I stell have an aprtment in New York, which I sublet. I own a house in Beverly Hills and noow I have one at La Quinta, near President Eisenhower's.

"I putter around the house and garden all day long, then at night I cook a fancy meal and read or watch television. Life is never dull. I live alone, but I'm never lonely."

* * * *

COLOR television continues to invade homes. As of April 1, according to the National Broadcasting Co., color-equipped TV households reached 10,390,000 — a gain of 4,380,000, or 73 per cent, over April 1 last year.

The estimate by NBC is that by the end of the year 16 million people will be viewing color TV in their homes.

Sam Riddle's "Boss City" at 5:30 p.m., channel 9, goes 90 minutes today and subsequent Saturdays. In celebration, a special guest lineup includes "The Moose," an Antelope Valley group which has recorded a single titled "The Fragile Hippopotamus," and other recording groups.

Killed in Viet War

An Anaheim soldier was among 53 servicemen listed Friday by the Defense Department as killed in Vietnam action. He was Pfc. John A. Frick, son of Lester J. Frick, 857 Wayside St.
